New Turmoil in Congo,
UN Troops Have to Fire270 Killed
In Bakwanga

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—A flareup of fighting between Congolese soldiers and secessionist partisans in Kasai Province has claimed at least 270 lives in the town of Bakwanga, the United Nations reported today.

UN officials reported scores of corpses strewn on the streets of Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist so-called mineral state in Kasai. Many were mutilated by blows from knives and machetes.

The UN spokesman said one UN plane transported two wounded Congolese soldiers from the scene. The UN task force commander, Gen. Carl Von Horn of Sweden, ordered all such transport stopped.

The UN spokesman said Congolese troops and their opponents, supporters of Kasai leader Albert Kalonji, "have access to supplies of arms and ammunition."

A garrison of 125 UN Tunisian soldiers barricaded the local club where 110 Belgian residents hovered in panic. According to UN reports, almost constant firing went on in Bakwanga.

"There was shooting for hours on end," a United Nations official said. "Both sides were heavily armed. They even had mortars."

CIVILIAN SHOT

A UN spokesman announced that in another outbreak United Nations Moroccan troops opened fire on a group of attacking armed civilians south of Thysville, Thursday, and killed one person.

It was the first time UN troops have opened fire and the first casualty attributed to UN soldiers serving in the Congo.

The attack occurred at Moberck, south of the garrison town of Thysville, where Congolese troops mutilated shortly after independence was declared here June 30.

The spokesman said the Moroccans deployed in that area were trying to disarm the civilians. They fired in the air first but finally were forced to shoot at the attackers.

ASSASSINATION TRY?

On the political front, the Congolese government charged that the opposition Puna party had attempted to assassinate President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Puna leader Jean Bolikango and a group of followers were arrested.

At the Leopoldville headquarters of Bolikango's Party of National Unity, officials said that Lumumba himself went to the airport with guards to take the 60-year-old political leader into custody.

LEADER OF PARTY

The 60-year-old Bolikango, who is leader of the Bangala "River People" tribe, was brought by plane to Leopoldville and held in camp Leopold II, military headquarters for the Congolese Army.

The government spokesman did not say how many members of his party were arrested with him.

Lumumba charged two weeks ago that Bolikango was trying to start secessionist movement in Equator Province.

The spokesman charged that "a group of Bolikango's party has threatened to assassinate President Kasavubu and Premier Lumumba and several of them have also been arrested."

He gave no details of the plot. Puna party officials in Leopoldville charged that Lumumba is trying to smash all opposition.

KENNEDY WARNS MR. K

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev should realize when he visits this country later this month that the American people do not want him to meddle in their presidential election.

"He will, I hope, confine himself to those matters which come under his province," the Democratic presidential candidate said.

Kennedy commented on Khrushchev's planned visit to the United Nations General Assembly.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Former Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson said today both political parties in the United States were "a little timid" about emphasizing negotiations with the Russians in their platform.

Pearson told reporters he felt each party feared Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would make favorable remarks about it if it wavered from a policy of toughness with Russia.

He said he saw no evidence of Canada following the U.S. policy and that External Affairs Minister Howard Green was urging disarmament as strongly as ever.

SEPTIMUS WAS 'ADVISOR IN DOUBLE-SPEAK'

Fake Rocks Literary 'Who's Who'

LONDON (UPI)—That celebrated Who's Who of the British literary world, Septimus Cadwallader Tissington-Henriot-Brown, BA, turned out to be a nobody today.

Septimus Cadwallader, etc., was one of the more astounding entries in "The Author's and Writer's Who's Who," published Thursday by Britain's venerable biographer of the great and the noble, Burke's P. Page Ltd.

Not only did he pen such masterpieces as "Stalemate at Sandhurst," according to Burke's, but he also once served a stint as an "advisor in double-speak" to the ministry of education.

Thus, it was with some regret that a spokesman for the 134-year-old publishing house admitted today that the company had been scandalized by a prankster, probably an unim-

ROME (UPI)—Mike Troy of Indianapolis, Ind., won the gold medal in the men's 200-metre Olympic butterfly swim event tonight. It was the fifth gold medal of the day for the U.S.

ROME (CP)—Ralph Boston of the United States won the Olympic men's broad jump today and broke the oldest Olympic mark in the books, Jesse Owens' 1936 record of 26 feet, 5½ inches.

Boston won with a leap of 26 feet, 7¼ inches. Another American, Bo Robertson, was second with 26-7½, and Russia's Igor Terovanesian, third, with 26-4.

The United States scored earlier when defending champion Glenn Davis won the 400-metre hurdles in another

Olympic record-breaking show, and the United States grabbed the silver and bronze medals. Cliff Cushman was second and Dick Howard was third behind Davis.

Wilma Rudolph, a 20-year-old Tennessee girl, won the women's Olympic 100-metre dash in an amazing 11 seconds flat but the mark will not stand as a world record because of a favoring wind.

The flying winner, who had rheumatic fever as a baby and didn't walk until she was seven, ran away from her field in a sensational display. Dorothy Hyman of Britain was second and Gluspeppina Leone of Italy was third. Both were timed in 11.3, equalling the existing world record.

SNELL IN UPSET

Peter Snell of New Zealand gave his country its first gold medal of the 1960 games by winning the 800-metre run in Olympic record-breaking time of one minute 46.3 seconds.

Snell edged the world record holder, Roger Moens of Belgium. Favorite George Kerr of the West Indies was third. The previous Olympic mark of 1:47.1 was set by Kerr in the preliminaries.

Soon after, Murray Halberg won the punishing 5,000-metre run and picked up New Zealand's second gold medal.

After winning Halberg flopped exhausted. The New Zealander had withstood a desperate challenge by Hans Grodzki of Germany, who tried to close a wide gap on the final lap.

The German finished second and Poland's Kazimierz Zimny was third.

Japan Warns Against Restrictive Quotas

(See Page 10)

MONTREAL (CP)—A Japanese trade delegation hinted strongly Thursday wheat purchases will be cut if Canada restricts Japanese goods.

Seichi Yaji, leader of a food mission from Tokyo, said at a press conference Canada sold $70,000,000 worth of milling wheat to Japan last year, supplying about 40 per cent of the whole Japanese wheat market.

This figure, he said, is likely to remain the same this year but could be "adversely affected" in the future if Canada imposed import quotas on Japanese goods.

Canadian quotas apply mainly to textiles, stainless steel flatware and hardwood plywood. Textile manufacturers in particular have complained that restrictions, recently strengthened, are still not restrictive enough.

Mr. Yaji said Japan's living standards are rising, meaning it is expected that relative consumption of wheat and rice up to 92 miles an hour were churning the gulf into a mass of whitecaps.

BANGOR, Me.—The Penobscot County Sheriff's Department tells of an Eddington farmer who complained that someone was raiding his garden night after night.

He woke up early the next morning. More tomatoes were missing. So were his pistol and flashlight.

POLICE CHIEF 'FIXES' TICKET WITH SECOND

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A woman driver cut across two lanes of traffic Thursday, parked her car in a bus stop facing the wrong way and tripped into headquarters where she asked Police Chief Joe Kimsey to fix a traffic ticket.

Kimsey ordered a policeman on duty to give her another traffic citation for illegal parking.

Shell Bursts Killing 15 U.S. Soldiers

GRAFENWOEHR, Germany (AP)—Fifteen American soldiers were killed and 28 injured today when a large calibre artillery shell exploded among them during a training exercise here, the U.S. Army announced.

It was the worst training accident for ground troops ever registered by the 230,000-man American force stationed in Germany.

An army announcement said the shell landed outside the "artillery impact area" and exploded in a tent camp in this training area.

An immediate investigation was ordered by Maj. Gen. Frederick Brown, commander of the 3rd Armored Division.

The Grafenwoehr region is the U.S. Army's biggest training ground in Germany. It is in north Bavaria, about 30 miles from the border with Czechoslovakia.

BIG COMMUNIST SHOW AT UN ASSEMBLY

Brass to Accompany Mr. K

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—When Nikita Khrushchev makes his second appearance on the General Assembly stage this month, he will have an impressive supporting cast of government chiefs from the Soviet bloc.

Eastern Europe's Communist brass is going to accompany the Soviet premier to the assembly opening Sept. 20. This led to speculation some Western leaders might attend.

Khrushchev had suggested that the heads of as many nations as possible attend the assembly's disarmament debate. His presence, along with Soviet bloc chiefs, is sure to bring other leaders, but diplomats expressed doubt there will be a full-scale summit meeting of the sort Khrushchev proposed.

President Eisenhower appeared almost certain to appear and deliver a reply to Khrushchev's speech before the assembly.

MACMILLAN RECONSIDERS There were indications in London after Khrushchev made his announcement that Prime Minister Macmillan might change his mind about attending. When the Soviet premier first raised the possibility several weeks ago that he might go to the assembly, Macmillan told Parliament he had no intention of going. But a British official said Thursday night: "Clearly a new situation has arisen. The prime minister certainly will look at the situation again."

A presidential spokesman said in Paris de Gaulle has no intention—at least for the present—to attend the assembly session, and added: "I doubt strongly if he will decide later to go."

There was speculation

DONCASTER, Eng.—Brian Senior stopped strumming his electric guitar when it suddenly started talking to him. The words from the guitar—loud and clear—turned out to be police calls, then a message from an RAF plane.

The 20-year-old draughtsman explained a quirk in the wiring of the guitar's amplifier must have turned it into an occasional radio receiver for broadcasts on certain frequencies.

DUBLIN—Playwright Brendan Behan left for New York last night, serenaded by Irishmen and fortified by nothing stronger than black coffee.

Behan, whose drinking feats are as famous as his plays, turned down Irish coffee—coffee and Irish whiskey—and said "My American visit will be dry."

LOS ANGELES—"I didn't have a trial," cried Mrs. Florence Aaland as she left court under a 90-day sentence for contributing to her daughter's delinquency.

"This is a frame-up," she shouted.

Her daughter, Beverly, now 17, was the late actor Errol Flynn's last girl friend. Beverly was made a ward of the Juvenile Court after a young boy friend was shot to death in what she said was a struggle over a pistol.

City Hall, and municipal headquarters in other Greater Victoria municipalities will be closed for a three-day period this weekend to observe Labor Day. They will re-open Tuesday morning.

SOMMERS REPORT BARED IF CCF WINS—STRACHAN

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Two reports which the B.C. government has not published—one dealing with the Sommers case and another with civil servants—will be released if the CCF wins the Sept. 12 election, CCF Leader Robert Strachan promised Thursday.

"We will fulfill the obligation of the present government," he told a campaign rally. "We will look at that record and so will you."

The reports involved were an RCMP report dealing with bribery allegations against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, and the Carruthers report on bargaining rights for government employees.

Congress Over, Election Drive

WASHINGTON, (AP)—One hundred senators and approximately 437 House members were released for full-time political campaigning Thursday when Congress adjourned.

The two rival presidential contenders, Democratic Senator John Kennedy and Republican Vice-President Richard Nixon, will not be far behind.

Kennedy planned a warup tour of New England today before jumping off for Alaska Saturday and the start of his formal campaign.

Nixon, laid up in a Washington hospital with an infected knee, studied road maps and timetables for a campaign trip starting Sept. 12—a six-day, 9,000-mile swing through 14 states.

Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a pre-convention adversary of Nixon, called on the Republican standard bearer at hospital and then announced he will make a cross-country tour for the Republican ticket.

Former President Harry Truman predicted the Republicans are going to be "the best-liked outfit you ever saw."

He came to Washington to discuss campaign plans with Kennedy.

Unless President Eisenhower calls a special session, the 86th Congress now is history. The 87th Congress will convene next Jan. 3.

Adjournment left stranded a bill to allow the president to cut sugar imports from the Dominican Republic.

The House refused to accept the Senate's version of the bill, and the Senate stood firm against the House measure.

The House insisted on its bill that would give President Eisenhower authority to cut a special sugar quota for the Dominican Republic, but only under certain conditions.

'FIGHTING FOR VIEWS'

Tim Buck Denies 'Infiltration'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Communist party leader Tim Buck denied Thursday that party members are "infiltrating" the proposed new CCF labor merger, maintaining they are properly fighting for representation of their views.

Mr. Buck told reporters Wednesday about 60 Communists are campaigning within labor's ranks in connection with the merger and one-third of the party's members are hiding their membership to avoid being expelled from Canadian Labor Congress affiliates.

Answering criticism of the move, he said in a press release Thursday from party headquarters here that the "integrity of a political party and its members is expressed in the consistency with which they fight for what their party stands for."

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, CLC President Claude Jodoin, CCF Leader Robert Strachan of B.C., and others in labor and the CCF sharply criticized Mr. Buck and refused any Communist party support.

SINGLED OUT Mr. Buck singled out Mr. Strachan for reply, saying: "In contrast to Mr. Strachan, I have fought to replace the capitalist profit system by socialism in Canada continuously for the last 40 years and the Communist party has never relaxed its fight for socialism in any respect. It is regrettable that the same cannot be said of Mr. Strachan."

"I would point out that members of the Communist party are fighting for policies they believe in, including questions of the structure of the new political party," his statement said.

"This is their right as members of their unions. More than that, it is their duty to their fellow members. For Mr. Strachan or anybody else to describe this as infiltration is deliberately deceitful."

Socialism Debate Hits B.C. Election Front

Douglas, Thatcher In Action

VANCOUVER (CP) — Saskatchewan is emerging as one of the big issues in British Columbia's Sept. 12 provincial election.

Saskatchewan Premier Tommy Douglas and Liberal leader Ross Thatcher stole the limelight from local leaders Thursday as debate raged over the record of 16 years of socialist administration in the Prairie province.

Premier Douglas told a Vancouver audience his government is dedicated to the belief "I am my brother's keeper" rather than the motto "every man for himself."

But Mr. Thatcher said in neighboring New Westminster the CCF's professed humanitarianism is "a hoax and a fraud."

TALKS MEDICAL PLAN

Mr. Douglas concentrated his talk on Saskatchewan's medical plan and said he has been "appalled" by the campaign against state medicine conducted by Canada's medical profession.

"The only difference as far as the doctor is concerned is that the bill goes to the government and not to the individual," he said.

He said the introduction of comprehensive insurance next year in accordance with the party's election promise this spring would not be the end of the CCF's medical scheme in Saskatchewan. Dental and optometric coverage would come next, he said.

Mr. Thatcher said socialism in Saskatchewan has been "a tragic failure."

He said nine of 21 crown companies founded by the government have failed and those which made money have only done so because they were given monopolies or other special privileges.

He said $300,000,000 of taxpayers' money was poured into these undertakings.

Trustees to Judge Vote List Appeals

DUNCAN—Cowichan School District 65 Trustees James Fraser and Pat Mason have been appointed to sit Sept. 20 as the court of revision to judge appeals on the voters' list of the rural area of the district.

Trustees Mrs. Nancy Bailey and Harold Burton Whitfield are alternates.

GROUND SWELL FOR CCF IN B.C. SAYS DOUGLAS

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Premier Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan said Thursday night he has "never seen as much enthusiasm for the CCF" as there now is in British Columbia.

"There's a great ground swell going on," he told an audience of 800 here. "There's the scent of victory in the air."

Premier Douglas' speech here outdrew British Columbia CCF Leader Robert Strachan, who addressed a crowd of 600 in the same hall last week.

Mr. Douglas said CCF detractors have minimized the abilities of the B.C. leader by saying: "Bobby Strachan is no Tommy Douglas."

But the Saskatchewan premier added he has sat in provincial and federal conferences with Mr. Strachan and "for ability, integrity, courage and imagination, he need take second place to no man in public life today."

Food Prices Hike Cost of Living

OTTAWA (CP) — A 1 per cent rise in food prices in July was the main cause of the third monthly gain this year in Canada's cost of living, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The consumer price index climbed 0.3 per cent during the month to 127.9 on Aug. 1 from 127.5 on July 1, the bureau said. "This yardstick of living costs is based on 1949 prices equaling 100."

The gain pushed the index 1.2 per cent above the year earlier level of 126.4, but still short of the record high of 128.3 last Nov. 1.

The index of food prices—largest component of the overall index—rose to 121.7 from 120.5 between July 1 and Aug. 1, an advance which the bureau said was about the usual seasonal increase.

SLAYER? — The FBI has arrested a convicted murderer, Joseph Harry Milani, 33, in the "lovers' lane kidnapping" of Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, 17-year-old waitress, whose body was found in an abandoned well. Milani, twice questioned and released, has been identified by John Bryant, 20, as the "tall husky gunman" who shot him in the face and snatched Miss Roberts from their car in southern Illinois. CAN KILL GERMS NOW RESISTANT

Super-Penicillin Hailed in U.K.

LONDON (AP) — British doctors today hailed the "outstanding achievement" of medical research in developing a new drug, celbenin, described as a super-penicillin soon to be available all over the world.

The British Medical Journal cautions that much more experimentation will be necessary before the full capabilities of the drug can be assessed, but it has already proved capable of killing germs that are resistant to ordinary penicillin.

"Celbenin is completely absorbed into the bloodstream when injected and its use is entirely free from toxic side-effects," said a spokesman for Beecham Research Laboratories, developers of the drug.

The Medical Journal publishes seven articles discussing the drug and says editorially that "its discovery is an important step forward . . . and it is encouraging to entertain the idea that something even better may yet emerge."

One hospital found that only a small percentage of the germs that penicillin had once killed were now affected by the older drug—such a fierce resistance had grown up since penicillin was first introduced.

Celbenin, on the other hand, has been shown to affect these resistant germs, called staphylococci, and often with dramatic healing results.

"Over 1,000 strains of penicillin resistant staphylococci were screened and all were sensitive to the new form of treatment," a Beecham spokesman said.

Celbenin was developed mainly under the direction of three British medical scientists, all of them under 40. They are Frank Doyle, George Rolinson and David M. Brown.

The Kiss of Death

WHY MR. TIM BUCK SHOULD have offered the CCF a kiss of death will be clear to no one but a Communist. In the provincial election, as everywhere else, the Communist is playing a game directed from Moscow. Probably, Mr. Buck and his local followers don't understand Moscow's orders but they are obeyed. Theirs not to reason why.

Mr. Buck's plan to join and infiltrate the new Canadian political party composed of the CCF and the labor unions is not surprising. The Communists have tried to infiltrate the CCF over and over again in the past and have always been resisted by men like Mr. M. J. Coldwell. No one who knows him, or Mr. Strachan, will imagine for a moment that they have the slightest Communist leanings. The smear attempted against them by Mr. Buck, as a tiny contribution to the world conspiracy, should fool nobody. It is altogether too crude.

Mr. Strachan's furious attack on Mr. Bennett for using Mr. Buck to discredit the CCF is understandable, but irrelevant. The Premier and the Opposition leader are both talking recklessly these days as if, under their outward show of confidence, they feared the outcome of the election. No doubt they will continue to befool the real question raised by the marriage of the CCF and the labor unions.

The real question certainly is not whether the CCF is soft on Communism but whether enemies of Communism like Messrs. Coldwell, Douglas and Strachan are wise in their decision to form a party dominated inevitably, and largely financed by, the labor unions.

We think (as do many CCF politicians) that they are unwise in principle and we doubt that they are wise even in practical politics.

This marriage sinks the CCF as an independent and useful force in Canada. In the end it will not help the labor unions which, as many of their leaders fully realize, must struggle for the legitimate rights of the working people no matter what government happens to be in office.

If the CCF, already married to the British Columbia labor unions in everything but name, should make large gains in the provincial election this would be interpreted all over the country as a hopeful start for the marriage. But even if that happened, which is extremely doubtful, it would not alter the hard facts of national politics.

The labor movement, organized and unorganized, must continue to deal, in national affairs, with a Conservative or a Liberal government at Ottawa. There is no prospect of any other kind of government.

Labor can do better for itself by working through the only parties that can hope for office than by isolating itself in a new party without any such hope. Samuel Gompers' famous dictum that labor should reward its friends, punish its enemies, and stay out of party politics is still sound. The three-cornered row between Messrs. Bennett, Strachan and Buck may confuse but cannot alter these facts.

The 'Semi-Literate'

MOST THOUGHTFUL PEOPLE will view with distress Prof. Earle Birney's findings on the "semi-literacy" of a quarter of the freshmen at the University of British Columbia.

Reporting on tests conducted there, he said some described Trotsky as a photographer, Dostoevsky as a painter, Churchill as the author of "War and Peace" and placed Belgrade in Ireland, Auckland in Scotland and the Severn River in Russia.

The chances are that these findings came from objective tests in which students who didn't know the answers guessed wrong when they applied their ticks in the answer columns. They should have known better, admittedly, but since they didn't, they took a chance and recorded errors. Had they confessed ignorance instead, they would still have indicated a weakness in the educational system, or in themselves.

The argument can be made that people who draw up such tests might make just as poor scores as the "semi-literates" if they were confronted with questionnaires covering subjects with which they were not familiar.

There are so many fields of information nowadays that no one can master them all.

It is still essential to possess knowledge in certain definite fields before a person can claim to be educated. Prof. Birney's test results indicate that such knowledge is not being provided as it should be to those aspiring to university training.

The University of British Columbia English professor could also have stated that the best and brightest students are just as well, if not better, informed than their predecessors. But if a quarter of the student body starts out as semi-literate, then better preparation is required in secondary schools unless the weight of the uninformed is to depreciate university standards or establish discouraging failure rates.

Forgetting Oswiecim?

IN SPAIN THIS SUMMER OBservers came across a shocking and cynical interpretation of history. It emerged as veterans of the Spanish Blue Division celebrated the 19th anniversary of their departure to fight beside Hitler's Nazis on the Eastern Front.

The Blue Division soldiers, said the civil governor of the Spanish province in which the celebration was held, "were fighting for the defence of Christian civilization." They represented "a human and spiritual elite, not only of Spain but of the civilized, Christian, Western world."

The spokesmen are emphatic in 1960 in their statements of what the Blue Division was fighting against. There appears to be careful avoidance of the type of society the Division was fighting to support—a society of atrocity and degradation almost inconceivable in the 20th century world until such obscenities as Auschwitz and Oswiecim made them realities.

How to Learn To Be Careful

ACCORDING TO THE NEWS item from Covina, California, William Hayes admitted that he threw a cigarette from his car in the Angeles national forest, where smoking is prohibited because of the fire hazard.

A judge ordered him to spend 10 Sundays helping owners of mountain cabins damaged by recent forest fires.

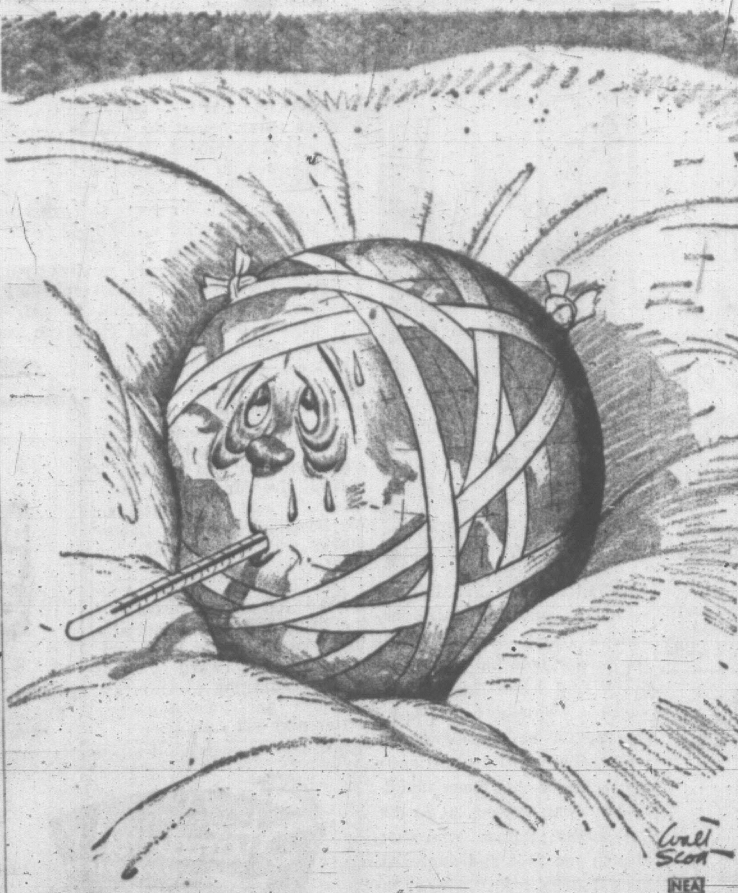

This seems an admirable way of making the punishment fit the crime and could well be copied elsewhere.

Members of the British Columbia forest service fire suppression division have, on several occasions, expressed appreciation for the way in which the public has reacted to their advice and warnings. The people, say the forest service men, are pretty well educated on the subject of safety practices in and near the woods.

There are, nevertheless, some individuals who behave as Mr. Hayes did in Covina. They are careless with cigarettes not because they willfully wish to destroy standing timber, but because observing precautions is not second nature to them yet. Sentences such as that passed in the California centre would help to cure their thoughtlessness.

WE'RE KILLING US

Better Than the Borgias

By B. A. TOBIN

AFTER reading the articles by Alan Phillips in the latest issue of Maclean's Magazine I am ready to swear off eating, breathing and drinking—particularly where the latter involves the intake of water. And if you read them you will be ready to join me in voluntary abstinence. For Mr. Phillips quotes chapter and verse, and a good many uncomfortable figures, to show that we, as a race, are rapidly poisoning our environment to a point where it will kill us.

The things we're doing to the air we breathe, the water we drink and the food we eat make simple nuclear radiation poisoning seem pleasant.

It looks from here as though the insect world is going to have the last laugh on man when he wipes himself out with insecticides. That is, if he doesn't strangle himself with smog first. Or poison himself with polluted water.

Unappetizing

Mr. Phillips is brutally frank about the food question. He takes a look at the official agencies charged with protecting society against harmful ingredients and finds they can't keep up with the new problems that are continually thrown at them.

As dangers are discovered, regulations curb or prohibit them. But sometimes it's a long wait before the experts can get around to the latest threat.

Nitrogen chloride, for instance, was used for thirty years to age wheat flour, even though it could cause fits in dogs. Eventually its use was forbidden. Mineral oil in salad dressings was found to hinder the body's absorption of vitamins. Dulsin, a sweetener, was in use for fifty years before they discovered that a very tiny amount in the diet gives rats cancer of the liver.

Proper testing may take years and thousands of laboratory animals. "Safe" margins may be a matter of one or two parts per million. And it seems there are possibly harmful chemicals in circulation that we haven't even suspected yet.

Bit by Bit

The principle, as Mr. Phillips describes it is that we can eat tiny portions of poison without harm—say some chemical used to keep meat fresh-looking. But the catch is that the chemicals may build up in the body tissues to a harmful level; or they may gradually ruin the body organ, such as the liver, which works to overcome them. And in any case, although a tiny bit of poison in one food may be relatively harmless, the problem is accentuated when a large number of different foods daily add their tiny quota.

There can be, says Mr. Phillips, a chemical louse-killer in ice cream, formaldehyde in smoked herring, a heart irritant in a vanilla substitute. Sodium cyclamate, used to sweeten foods, can cause kidney damage, he reports.

DDT and similar pest-killers constitute a menace. Such elements may be eaten by cattle and so appear in meat, milk or butter. In such cases, butter, being concentrated, would contain much more of the chemical than other forms.

"It's a rare meal—or person—today that doesn't contain DDT," says Mr. Phillips. And the U.S. Public Health Service adds that it accumulates in the body tissues, especially in females.

Accompaniment

Parallel with the rise of chemical preservatives, weed and insect killers, bread fixers, meat tenderizers, warehouse sprays, coloring agents, artificial flavors and a host of other examples of man's chemical cleverness, is the rise of illnesses.

Cancer, polio, liver diseases, leukemia, blood disorders seem to be on the increase. Are they perhaps due to the body's valiant efforts to combat the poisons with which we load it?

But the attacks don't come only from food. The modern city fills the atmosphere with tons of harmful chemicals, dust, smoke, gases and wastes which we take into our lungs and our bloodstream. The effects, it is claimed, may range all the way from mental depression, chest trouble or sore eyes to cancer and death.

Smog has killed humans by the hundreds. Deaths of 4,000 persons were blamed on smog during a four-day attack in London in 1952. In Donora, Pennsylvania, 5,900 sickened and twenty died in 1948. In the same year, London registered 300 deaths after a fog-and-smoke pall. Thousands were taken ill and 63 died of airborne wastes in Belgium in 1930.

One expert describes modern man as living in a sea of cancer-producing materials. Researchers quote figures that seem to bear him out.

Open Sewers

But we're treating our water supply as badly as our air. Rivers and lakes near populated areas are in many cases merely open sewers, loaded with human and industrial wastes and teeming with harmful organisms. And after these waterways are the local water supply—or swimming beach.

Detergents are one of the worst offenders. On a purely physical plane they are covering streams and canals with foam, which cuts off light and air from the water and so kills fish and inhibits the water-purifying action of microscopic life.

And detergents don't disappear. On some Ontario farms, the septic tank-well-faucet cycle has been repeated so many times that the detergent content has built up to the point where a glass of water has a head of foam like beer.

These are the trends in food, air and water—the three essentials of human life. There have been efforts to correct the trouble but authorities claim the real problem has hardly yet been scratched. It's getting worse, they say.

So eat good nourishing food, drink lots of water, keep your bedroom window open—and pleasant dreams.

Marginal Note to History

(Second of Two Articles)

HON. R. B. HANSON wrote of the 1926 constitutional crisis as follows: "I do recall the constitutional crisis of 1926. What I have to tell you about it is from memory after 22 years . . .

"You will recall that King announced his resignation and the House adjourned and Meighen was sent for by Byng sometime during that very day I think. Beauséjour asked me to go down to his office, and when I got there he told me that Meighen should not take office but let King have his dissolution.

"By no means was this advice based on the constitutional angle, but that from the standpoint of pure political strategy he felt Meighen should refuse to form a government. It would follow that Byng would have to send for King and give him his dissolution and that he, King would then have to go to the country, that he would be on the defensive all the way through and would probably be soundly beaten.

"The constitutional issue which was subsequently raised by King and which to my amazement he got away with, was only incidentally discussed. If it was discussed at all it was on the theory that King would probably raise it as a defence of his own position—a denial of his right to a dissolution.

"We (Hanson and Mr. E. B. Ryckman) went to Meighen's office. He was in conference with Sir Robert Borden. After some delay we were admitted and Ryckman put the matter across to them.

"The constitutional point was not raised. Both Sir Robert and Mr. Meighen were immediately seized of the point we were making and discussed it briefly. Both stated that for Meighen to refuse would mean that Byng would be left in a very bad position and would probably have to resign, and they both said he should not and must not be sacrificed.

"That, of course, was a very lofty position to take. They promised to consider it further and we bowed ourselves out. You know the result. When King did raise the constitutional issue I never thought there was any substance in it and I don't yet. But it proved to be a splendid red herring.

"This is my recollection. I never put it on paper."

Lofty Position

This letter makes a single but exceedingly important point—that the decisive consideration with both Mr. Meighen and Sir Robert was the career of the Governor-General, Lord Byng. "He should not and must not be sacrificed," Mr. Hanson regarded this position as "lofty," but there it was.

On March 31, 1950, Mr. Meighen wrote:—

"Mr. Hanson's letter interested me much. The incident he refers to . . . is something which I frankly cannot recall . . . However, I accept without reservation that the call was made just as Mr. Hanson relates."

"Aside from the lesser question of political strategy, what was the situation on Monday afternoon, June 28, when these men called? Mr. King had resigned because he was refused dissolution. There was no government. He had refused my request to consult with him."

"That it was the Governor-General's duty, when dissolution was applied for, to ascertain first whether I was ready to undertake the formation of a government is now, I think, beyond all cavil or question. If, when the Governor-General expressed this view to Mr. King on the morning of June 28, Mr. King had awaited such consultation by Lord Byng with myself, then I would have been quite free to have measured the matters of political strategy and decided accordingly, but—on the contrary, Mr. King had thrown down the gauntlet to Lord Byng, and had definitely challenged his right to consult me at all on this single question.

"Either Mr. King was right or Lord Byng was right. If, in doing so, Mr. King was wrong and Lord Byng was right, then I had no option whatever. To have decided otherwise than I did decide would have been to do, a cruel and unmerited wrong to Lord Byng."

There only remains Mr. Edgar Tarr's sum-up. Mr. Tarr was on terms of intimacy in 1926-27 with Lord Byng and received a full account from the Governor-General at Rideau Hall on Sept. 11, 1926. Mr. Tarr was a dinner guest and he and Lord Byng spent the evening discussing what had happened.

Intimate Friend

In later years, particularly after Mr. Meighen retired to Toronto, Mr. Tarr became an intimate friend. Every time Mr. Tarr visited Toronto, the two men would get together to discuss politics and very frequently they went over the 1926 crisis. That Mr. Tarr was a prominent Liberal made no difference.

After going over the position as stated by Lord Byng and Mr. Meighen, Mr. Tarr in a memorandum prepared at my request (dated July 12, 1948, wrote as follows:—

"The impression that Meighen left with me was that if he had been sure that he could get majority support in the House of Commons, he would on that ground alone have accepted the invitation to form a government and would not have thought it politically undesirable to do so.

"He told me that there was a good prospect of his being able to get the majority through the support of the Progressives, as this situation had been felt out. He told Byng that he thought this was probable, but not certain, and I think it was at that point that Byng's plea for the protection of the office of Governor-General became decisive with Meighen."

"I am not sure that even Meighen himself knows what his decision otherwise would have been, but certainly his desire to protect the Governor-General removed all doubt from his mind as to whether or not he would form a government."

There is much more in the Tarr memorandum, but this establishes the point—the decisive factor in Mr. Meighen's decision in 1926 was not the desire for office but a deep conviction that it was his duty to protect the Crown in the person of the Governor-General.

Clearly it is unjust to Mr. Meighen to believe that his action in 1926 was dictated by selfish or party interests. The fact that he was in the wrong and Mr. King was in the right, in no way affects his motives.

As Our Readers See It

Clearing Up Three Points

Referring to the article in the Times of Aug. 30, by your Pat Dufour—covering an interview with Mrs. Bina Whitney, recently installed as Matron of Rose Manor.

May we say, none of your readers could be more pleased to read this article than were members of the board of management; they heartily commend and endorse everything said about our Mrs. Whitney.

But to avoid any misunderstanding may we restate our position on three points?

1. Rose Manor very gratefully receives an annual grant from the city of Victoria, in line with other similar institutions—but not equal to taxes levied.

2. The Board does not receive any financial assistance or donations from any church organization whatsoever.

3. Room and board rates are very moderate, as stated, but range from $70 to $85; and Rose Manor is operated solely on these receipts plus the occasional, and very welcome, bequest.

Looking for Answers

A thoughtful reading of your studious editorial, "End of the Spurt", in issue of Aug. 25, leaves one wondering just where we go from here. You picture dwindling markets for our exportable goods, listing as you do increasing competition from Britain, Japan, Germany, United States and Russia, and now the latest added costs of increasing rates for transportation both by rail and water in no way lighten the picture.

To this must be added the continuing automation in methods of construction and production. Increased production with fewer human hands employed, thus invites the increasing worry about unemployment. And the rapidly increasing human population adding to family allowance, to welfare and pension, insurance and subsidy costs must be a mounting headache to government officials.

If the powers that be ever answer our earnest prayers for world peace, for an end to war, there will be added to the problem those millions now uselessly employed in armies, in air forces, in navies, and in factories and plants now employing millions in making destructive weapons never to be used.

Adding the many "left-outs" to this ever-darkening picture, will some of your readers give us their ideas of a workable economic or political system or plan of government or method of living that will meet present-day human need.

Pools for Sport

Re the item in your paper headed "Politicians, Please Note" (Page 11, Aug. 29).

It was very interesting to read that the whole bill for the Olympic Games was being covered by the Italian Soccer Pools where a percentage of the take goes to the government—a portion to some worthy sports cause and the rest returned to the holders of winning tickets.

I think this is a wonderful way to raise money for our future athletics. What are we doing in Canada to help build sports facilities that will produce worthy competitors for such Olympic Games? Nothing. Granted, a number of groups are doing a wonderful job in trying to raise money to help defray the travelling expenses of our girls and boys to Rome but that's peanuts to what a government controlled Sports Pool could do in the way of raising money.

We do have enough money to foot the Rome trip and our athletes have gone on a "Fly now, Pay later" basis. With a properly controlled Games Pool we could build proper swimming pools, diving pools, arenas, cycling tracks, track fields, etc., and give our youngsters an opportunity to train properly under ideal conditions. Out of the thousands of athletics would come our future Olympic competitors to give Canada many gold medals and bring great publicity to our wonderful country.

I know that many organizations as a whole, would frown on this system of raising money but I know of many who belong to these organizations who spend money on other types of pools that send money out of the country. I for one would gladly gamble a few dollars with the possibility of winning a larger amount. And if I didn't win, could look upon a certain sports building and say to myself "I helped pay for that building."

Biblical Space Travel

The multi-column headline (Aug. 24) "She wants to be shot into space" arrested my attention.

This first lady astronaut seems to be looking forward to her adventure. She "can't imagine anyone not wanting to go into space." This desire for space travel is, I believe, inborn. The inspired apostle Paul looked forward to the time when he would be "caught up" into space. Referring to that time which he seemingly hoped would come in his day, he said, "Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them (the resurrected ones) in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air." (See 1 Thessalonians 4:16,17.)

Some of us who would shrink from the very thought of being shot into space look forward with fondest anticipation to the time when we will be "caught up" into space by the Great Divine Master of the Universe, who has assured us of a safe landing and a home in the "many mansions." (See John 14:1-3)

SPACE TRAVELLER

Husbands at Births?

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

I get a number of letters from people, some of whom feel strongly that a man should be present at the birth of his child. They feel he ought to stand by his wife and be ought to see her suffer. Perhaps, then, he will appreciate her all the more. But I get letters in a different vein from women who say that they don't want their husband around watching, while they are looking anything but attractive.

I hear from some doctors who say that they will permit the man to watch, if he is very anxious to; and his wife does not object. Other doctors say that they can't be bothered to have a layman around in a place where everything must be kept sterile.

A man who knows nothing about asepsis (the keeping of bad germs away from the mother) might turn out to be a "bull in a china shop." As some doctors said, if suddenly things should happen to go wrong, and the doctor had to deliver the child, he would be in a bad way. He might faint, and fall onto a table of sterile supplies. Perhaps one of the best arguments I have heard against letting a husband into the room comes in a letter from a man who evidently insisted on being present in the hospital when his baby was born, and who now is almost angry enough at the doctor to want to shoot him.

What happened was that the obstetrician did the usual operation of episiotomy (the cutting of the tissues) so that there is more room for the child's advancing head. Now, days, this little operation is performed almost routinely in order to keep the woman from becoming badly torn. Naturally, for an over-sensitive and perhaps emotionally unstable man, who had never seen any operation of any kind, it was a tremendous shock to see the doctor take a knife and deliberately cut deeply into his wife's tissues. The shock was so great that not only has the man not gotten over it, but every day he seems to be getting more and more bitter about it.

I can see why he is still angry about what the obstetrician did — apparently so cold-bloodedly — and I can only hope that soon he gets straightened out mentally about it. Some kindly person ought to talk to him. Perhaps it would not have been so bad if the obstetrician had thought to explain first, what he was going to do, and why.

Women keep asking me about the "fertile period" each month, and the days during which they want to be careful. This is not an easy question to answer if only because so many women are a bit irregular. In such cases, it is not easy to guess when ovulation will come.

So far as I can remember, I never heard an able gynecologist say a kind word about the use of the fertile period. Few physicians seem to have any strong faith in the trustworthiness of this method. One of the easiest ways of handling the situation is to get one of the books that are available with lists of the fertile and infertile days adjusted for menstrual months of the different lengths.

Some people with heart disease write asking if the type of operation which is now performing miracles for children could be used to cure them. I fear that usually this is not the case. Commonly, in small children, the surgeon has to fix up a heart which was defective almost from birth. Perhaps a hole was left between the two sides of the heart, or a duct which, in the fetus (in the womb) carries blood from one of the two largest arteries in the body to the other did not close, when the child was born.

In some adults with valvular heart disease one of the valves is so scarred by disease and so nearly closed that the person suffers greatly. In such a case, the surgeon may be able to open up the valve. In other cases, in which one of the valves of the heart is leaking badly, the surgeon may put in a substitute valve.

Only a few adults with heart trouble are good subjects for surgery. Usually, the best thing for a puzzled patient to do is to go to a large medical centre where heart specialists and heart surgeons working together will be able to decide if he could profit from an operation.

Tass Raps Yugoslavs For Slighting China

LONDON (Reuters) — The vociferous American imperialist bloc took a new turn today with a Russian attack on Yugoslav Vice-President Edvard Kardelj for criticizing China's ideology.

The Soviet news agency Tass issued the text of a 3,500-word article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda by theoreticians A. Arzumani and V. Korionov.

The article denounces Kardelj, Yugoslavia's leading Communist theoretician, for his recent book, Socialism and War, which rejected Chinese claims that war is inevitable and labelled them "Trotskyist."

It said Kardelj "virtually repeats the American-spread slander against People's China that she is aggressive."

"He is unable to squeeze out a single word of condemnation against the American imperialist provocateurs. And this means that he appears virtually in the role of an ad-

Risk Capital Best Method

PENTICTON (CP) — Special circumstances of the Peace River make risk capital the best method of developing its power potential, Mines Minister Kiernan said Thursday night.

He told an election meeting the provincial government will have its hands full developing the Columbia River publicly and would be unable to handle the Peace as well. He said a start on the Columbia would be made "in the very near future."

He promised that the Peace River Power Development Company of Swedish Axel Wenner-Gren would receive the same treatment and pay the same rates as anyone else.

Studies Secrets of Sex

LONDON — U.S. author Irving Wallace has arrived here before the book of his that has created such a stir on your side of the Atlantic — The Chapman Report.

The British have so far only heard about the documentary novel with the Kinsey flavor. It doesn't get publication in this country until January.

The 44-year-old Wallace is here with his family on their way to Paris for a four-month stay to gather material for his next novel. It's to be a follow-up on The Chapman Report, but this time the theme is to be Continental sex-life, a similar survey into the marriage secrets of the French.

"It should be interesting," says Wallace.

"Continental women and their attitude to sex are... well... different from those back home."

"They are less restrained and less inhibited. This should make the gathering of material more easy, but it might make the actual writing more difficult."

HOME GARDEN

This Strawberry Isn't.

Most people think these plants are strawberry plants for the simple and obvious reason that they look like strawberry plants, but no strawberry has leaves the size of these.

Their common name is cinquefoil and like the strawberry they belong in the rose family under the botanical name of potentilla which is pronounced as it is spelled, poten-till-a.

The most amazing thing about the cinquefoils is their diversity of habit, for we find them as small creeping plants for the rocky, as herbaceous perennials for the border, and as woody shrubs of small to large dimensions.

The average garden would be far too small to accommodate even one plant of each kind of potentilla in cultivation. Prof. Bailey unearthed enough to fill five columns in his Hortus. Second, and that would be about 150 (I will count them some day). But what an interesting garden they would make!

It was hand-weeding among two of the herbaceous type which raked my appreciation of these plants, for I had never paused to study the individual flowers.

Each petal, and there are five, is wide and double lobed at the top, but very narrow where it joins the calyx. This leaves a space between petals through which is seen the greenish-yellow sepals below, giving the impression at first glance of a soft orange-colored blossom with greenish-yellow spots in the throat.

One named variety is Gibson's Scarlet, but it is a misnomer. The flowers are a deep, smoky, velvety maroon, about as far from scarlet as one could imagine.

Both of these are rather shy at flowering, or should we say they would be superb if more flowers opened at one time. But the orange one puts up many flower stems and make a more generous show than Gibson's.

On the shrubby forms the flowers are just plain, ordinary strawberry flowers without the open work to give effect, but even strawberry flowers all over a bush is something everyone does not have.

TRIALS AND TRIUMPHS OF OLYMPIC STARS

DATELINE: ROME

'High Living' Costing U.S. Olympic Glory

(From Times News Services)
ROME—Wine, women and song were blamed by one official today for the wave of dismal performances by the U.S. track and field team in the Olympic Games.

"You can't win gold medals when you're not in condition," the official said, "and you don't get into condition by sitting up half the night drinking wine."

Bluntly, the official charged that "the boys have been living it up too high."

"Just the other night, I got back to the village at 2 o'clock in the morning. A taxi with about six members of the track team came in right behind me."

"I think it's time we stopped blaming the judges and the starting gun and looked facts in the face."

"You don't catch any Russians out dancing after 10."

"Nevertheless, I think it's unfair to come down on our boys like this just because they had one bad day. If they had had a good day Thursday, nobody would have gone around complaining about the hours they keep."

* The U.S. official got backing, although he didn't know it, when a Russian told a newsmen in another interview: "We train seriously . . . you prefer the easy life."

The Soviet delegation added that their athletes are scoring so many upset victories not because they are stronger or better trained but because "we have the only real mass sports program going."

"The answer," said Dr. Anatoli Kravobkov, head physician of the Soviet team, "lies in the law of averages."

"We have the only real mass sports program going," he said. Twenty-four million people take part in sports, with all training, stadiums, equipment and medical check-ups provided free by the state.

"From this it follows that until the U.S. and other countries begin to promote sports as widely and as intensely as we do, chances are we are going to get better year by year—even in fields which up to now have been other countries' specialties."

The basic aim of the Russian program is "constant improvement of health of the population."

"Victories at the Olympics are a by-product of that improvement."

A jubilant Armin Hary Thursday night smilingly complained: "I can't even celebrate my gold medal tonight because competition goes on for me."

The 23-year-old appliance clerk from Frankfurt won Germany's first gold medal in the 100-metre sprint, thus breaking an American supremacy which had lasted since 1932.

Hary, a long-legged six-footer, is the No. 2 man in the German 400-metre relay team.

"That means competition is going on for me and there is no time for a letup," Hary said.

Asked about the 100-metre final Hary said:

"It was undoubtedly the toughest race I've been in so far. When the two first starts went bad, I think everybody got nervous. At the time my take-off was not so good as usual and I had to put in everything I had to pull ahead. At the very last metres Dave Sime came close and I could barely make it."

"I saw the picture of the photo finish. Boy, oh boy, wasn't that close?"

The vice-president of the International Wrestling Federation said today a Bulgarian wrestler had thrown a match with a Russian gold medal winner.

The official said Bulgarian lightweight Dimitro Stoyanov had taken a dive in a Greco-Roman wrestling bout with Russia's Aitandil Koridze.

Sports experts here said it was the first time such a "fix" charge had ever been made in the Olympics.

Hichi Hattia, a Japanese who is vice-president of the federation, said Stoyanov, who failed to finish among the top three, had been disqualified.

In Greco-Roman wrestling no holds are permitted below the waist.

Despite the disqualification, the Russian will keep the gold medal he won Wednesday, Hattia said.

* John Thomas went down to defeat like a champion on Thursday.

Head up, his eyes a little misty, he said slowly: "I'm very proud of what I did. I finished third and that's a lot better than a lot of people could do."

Thomas cleared seven feet one-quarter inch. Not a half-dozen people in the world have done better. It was an Olympic record.

The only trouble was that two Russians, Robert Shavlakadze and Valeriy Brunel, also did it and then did 7-1 in the bargain.

"I gave everything I had," he said proudly. "Those Russians are good jumpers and although I'm disappointed, I'm not ashamed."

STOMACH UPSETS . . .

Fitness Problems Plague Athletes

Lynn Eves of Victoria, like most members of the Canadian Olympic team, has been having his troubles at Rome.

In a telephone conversation with his father, Frank Eves, Thursday night, Lynn disclosed that he is suffering an upset stomach in addition to a charleyhorse that hurt his chances in the 100-metre dash.

Half an hour before competing in 200-metre heats this morning, Lynn said that his stomach has been bothering him since the weekend.

He failed to qualify this morning, placing fourth in his heat in 21.9, well off his best time.

But he indicated that he hoped to be ready for the 400-metre relay. He said that Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who suffered an agonizing muscle spasm in the 100-metre semi-finals, also hoped to run.

The muscle cramps suffered by both Jerome and Eves have been blamed by some track specialists on lack of salt. The stomach disorder, a common ailment at the Olympic camp, has been blamed on Italian water.

Dave Sime, U.S. runner who finished second in the 100 Thursday, said that he had suffered a similar disorder while Sig Ohlemann of Vancouver, an 800-metre specialist, is down with dysentery. Other athletes are also complaining of upsets.

If Eves was hopeful about the relay, Jerome was not as optimistic. He was reported as saying that the leg is "not feeling good, and I don't even know yet whether I'll start in the relay Wednesday."

He passed up today's 200-metre heats.

So did Germany's Armin Hary, winner of the 100 Thursday. He discovered a slight pain in his right thigh where he once pulled a muscle and decided to save himself for the relay.

A German team physician said there was no danger but Hary, the world's fastest human, was taking no chances.

... AND LEG INJURIES

U.S. Coming Back After Black Day

(From Times News Services)
ROME—The United States set out this morning to make up lost track and field prestige in the Olympic Games, but for Canada there was no recourse.

Harry Jerome of Vancouver, the top Maple Leaf sprinter, was eliminated by a muscle spasm from the 100-metre dash Thursday and, when Victoria's Lynn Eves failed to get past the first round in the 200 metres this morning, Canadian track fans could only mull over past defeats for the time being.

Eves finished fourth in the 10th heat this morning in 21.9, well off his potential. Only the first two men advanced in each heat.

All three U.S. entries qualified by winning their heats but Ray Norton, pick of most to sweep the sprints before the Games opened, had trouble in his heat.

Off poorly, the Oakland Flyer, who had finished sixth in the 100 metres, edged Dave Jones of Britain in 21.2 in a tight battle. Stone Johnson loafed to victory in 21.7 and Les Carney won in 21.1.

The United States had started to make up prestige lost when Armin Hary of Germany defeated long John Thomas in the high jump Thursday. More victories were to come.

Defending champion Glenn Davis led the U.S. to a sweep in the final of the 400-metre hurdles in record time and Bob Webster led a one-two U.S. sweep in the high diving finals.

The women were doing their share too as Wilma Rudolph of Tennessee broke the world's record in winning the 100-metre dash in an amazing 11 seconds flat, aided by wind.

Eves Misses in 200 Dash; Swimmers Pick Up Points

The listed world record is 11.3, while the Olympic mark was 11.5. Both records were held by Australians.

Davis' time was 49.3 seconds, breaking his own Olympic mark of 50.1 and only a tenth of a second off the world standard. It was the third U.S. gold medal in track and field.

Webster snared his diving medal with 165.56 points. Second was Gary Tobian, who had earlier won the three-metre title.

The States had a lot of lost ground to make up. On Thursday Thomas, the overwhelming favorite, was beaten by Russia's Robert Shavlakadze in the high jump. It was one of the most stunning upsets in Olympic history when Thoms finished third.

Second was Valeriy Brunel, who with his teammate broke the Olympic record of six feet, 11 1/4 inches, with a leap of seven feet, one inch.

No upset, but fully as disappointing to Canadians, was Canada's defeat in the fours without coxswain rowing event.

At the 1956 Olympic in Melbourne, a University of British Columbia crew pulled to a gold medal in this event. It was one of Canada's greatest Olympic moments.

But Thursday the Canuck entry from St. Catharines, Ont., finished third in the repechage, with only the top two qualifying. Canada was timed in 6:44.7; winning U.S. team was caught in 6:24.84.

Germany was second and Australia was fourth and last.

This morning, Italy, Austria, Hungary, Germany, Finland and Yugoslavia qualified for the six-crew final by placing well in semifinals.

the anchor freestyle leg. Wheaton performed the backstroke leg while Steve Rabinovitch of Montreal did the breaststroke. Cameron, Grout, also of Montreal, swam the butterfly leg.

Other swimming news was not good, though. Sara Barber of Branford, Ont., was fourth in her 100-metre backstroke heat and did not qualify.

Raymond Loughheed of Moose Jaw celebrated his 21st birthday one day in advance by scoring a win in wrestling.

Loughheed, competing in the first round of the lightweight freestyle class, defeated Roger Bielle of France, by decision.

Kurt Boese of Kitchener, Ont., scored a fall over Doug Blubach of the U.S. to win his welterweight bout but Bob Steckle of Kitchener was beaten by J. Gurics of Hungary in a heavyweight struggle.

Big Hopes Riding on UB CCrew

Canadian hopes for rowing glory now rest squarely on the shoulders of the U.B.C. eight-oared crew, which beat the favored U.S. team Wednesday to reach Saturday's final.

But things weren't completely gloomy for Canada Thursday, however. Almost unnoticed in the furor over Jerome, the 400-metre medley swim team, which includes Victoria's Bob Wheaton, finished fourth in the final behind a record-breaking U.S. squad.

The winning Americans were timed in 4:05.4, clipping almost three seconds off their own Olympic record. Australia and Japan battled it out for second and Australia got the nod, 2 of a second ahead in 4:12.

Canada and Russia fought for fourth spot and Canada got it when Dick Pound of Montreal made up lost ground on

WALDEN SPARKLES

'Rinky-Dinks' Scare Leaders

WINNIPEG—B.C. Lions came out with a "rinky-dink" backfield Thursday night and the second-stringers came within an eyelash of carving out the biggest upset of the Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

The unbeaten Winnipeg Blue Bombers made it six straight, thanks largely to a pair of dazzling touchdowns romps by fleet-footed Carver Shannon.

The score, before 18,297 fans, was 19-14 in Winnipeg's favor.

With B.C. calling on second-string quarterback Jim Walden to lead the attack in place of ailing Randy Duncan, Lions came up with one of their best all-around showings of the year. Gambling well and often,

Leo Lewis got the third major for Winnipeg and Gerry James made good on only one of three convert attempts.

Rookie end Jim Carphin secured one Lion touchdown on a pass from Walden and Beamer went over for the other from the one-yard line.

With Willie Fleming out with injuries, Don Vilec at home and Bob Jeter used only on defence, Lions went most of the way with a backfield made up of Walden, Nub Beamer and By Bailey at fullback and Jimmy Jones and Baz Nagel at halfback.

Lions also played well defensively, stopping the Bombers twice on the Lions' one-yard line and once from the 15. But a couple of defensive errors and the performance of Shannon was the turning point.

Defensive ace Gordie Rowland of the Bombers halted a late B.C. drive when he intercepted a Walden pass with about a minute remaining in the game.

The injuries resulting from the game might eventually mean more than the score. Fullback Charlie Shepard, ace punter of the Bombers, will be out for at least three games because of a groin injury suffered in the tussle.

Knee troubles hit the Lions' Dick Johnson, kicker Ric Kristopaitis and end Bill Herron. Johnson is to fly back to Vancouver for medical attention, missing at least Monday's game in Regina against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

PROS ON TOUR

Gary Golf Great

It has been suggested that Gary Player is flirting with greatness.

The flirtation, as far as Stan Leonard is concerned, is over. So look for no other testimony than that supplied by Leonard, the highly respectable and able golf professional from Vancouver.

"Gary," says Leonard of the 24-year-old Player, "is the finest young golfer in the world today."

The diet-conscious, pushup loving (80 a day) South African and Leonard visit our town Saturday on their next-to-last lap of a seven-city exhibition tour of western Canada.

They show their shots, in a four-ball match along with Victoria professionals Joe Pyke and Laurie Carroll, at Oak Bay. It's Marine Drive's pleasure Sunday in Vancouver and then both leave Sept. 11 for a similar tour of Australia.

The four-ball match will wait until Leonard and Player conduct a half-hour clinic, starting at 2 p.m. Admission is $1 with net proceeds going to B.C.'s junior golf development fund.

BORROWED CLUBS

Player leads the series 4-1. He won his four prairie matches from Leonard on entirely strange courses, and using borrowed clubs!

Throw that into the bag of Player statistics and it's easy to see why Mr. Leonard speaks with nothing but high praise when he refers to Gary.

Statistically, Player strikes a big blow for the little man. Only five-even and 152 rounds, he consistently drives around 260 yards. Now in his seventh year as a professional, Player has won over 30 money tournaments, including the tough British Open.

Soccer Benefit For Brodies Ace

A benefit game for injured Brodies' soccer star George Guckel will be played Saturday at 2 p.m. in Topaz Park between Brodies and Kickers of the Victoria and District Soccer League.

Named to the all-star team last season, Guckel has been hospitalized with an injured knee.

Vicettes' Fine Record Won't Help This Trip

Victoria Vicettes will have to Kamloops as top threats in the pull out all the stops if they want to retain their B.C. women's "B" softball championship this weekend.

Vicettes boast a 12-1 won-lost record this year and are backed by six provincial titles in eight years, but coach Wally Yeomans isn't counting on any help from past performances. Yeomans rates Vancouver, bolstered by the addition of five senior "A" players, and

2-Day Meet For Cyclists

A full program of racing has been scheduled for Saturday by the Victoria Cycling Club with entrants expected from Vancouver and Seattle in addition to Island pedal pushers.

Main events start at 2:30 p.m. in Beacon Hill Park in the men's senior and junior and women's classifications.

The wheelers move to the Patricia Bay Highway Sunday for a 25-mile time trial to wind up the annual Labor Day meet. Entry forms are available at the Hay Bicycle Shop, 1320 Government.

Navy Hit Hard By Morrisons

The plugs fell out of Navy's barge Thursday night after a 17-hit shelling by Morrisons that gave the motormen a 10-4 win in the second game of their best-of-seven Heywood Senior "B" Softball League final.

Jack Wright hit a two-run homer and Don Pimlott, with a double and two singles, sparked the winners.

Morrisons now lead the series 2-0 and the third game will be played tonight at 6:15 p.m. Sunday.

Junior Finalists Not Spectacular, But Get Job Done

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Robinson of Vancouver and Toronto's Brian Wilcox may not be spectacular golfers, but they've made the finals of the Canadian Junior golf championship while the hot-shot artists are on the outside looking in.

Robinson, a confident 17-year-old from Marine Drive, has played steady golf in whipping four highly-rated opponents—including last year's champion, Gordon Le Riche of Montreal—in the first four rounds of the match-play tournament which ends in a 36-hole final today.

Wilcox, who scored a stunning upset over Ontario junior champ Bob Panasiuk in the semifinals on Thursday, was rated a dark-horse when the tournament began, but most people didn't know that the 16-year-old youngster, competing on his home course, had tied the non-competitive course record of 65 over the par 36-36—72 6,490-yard Thornhill club course.

WILCOX A GIANT KILLER

Wilcox turned giant-killer Thursday when he knocked off Windsor's Panasiuk, who had been touring the immaculate hilly course in par and sub-par scores in previous rounds.

Robinson was about three strokes over par when his match with Gary Black of St. Catharines ended 4 and 3 on the 15th hole. Black, who earlier in the day knocked off

Vancouver Point Grey's top junior John Morgan one up, said he was snag-hooking the ball all day.

He said Robinson was a steady player—"He keeps hitting the ball straight down the fairway and it's exasperating when your game is a bit off."

Wilcox had to win four of the last five holes in his semifinal match with Bob Jamieson of Peterborough before he won one up. Panasiuk has taken Dick Munn of Victoria Cedar Hill 3 and 2, while Robinson beat clubmate Terry Campbell 4 and 3.

GOING AGAINST SLOAN 'DISASTER' SAYS TORY

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Failure of the Social Credit government to adopt measures advocated in the forestry report of the late Chief Justice Sloan have had disastrous results for the industry, a visiting Progressive Conservative candidate said Thursday night.

Vancouver Centre candidate, Larry Eckardt, told an election meeting building of access roads, was one of the chief justice's main recommendations which had been ignored.

The province never took up a federal government offer to pay 60 per cent of the cost of such roads, he said.

As a result of lack of access routes for firefighters, huge areas of B.C. forest had been destroyed by fire and vast unemployment had resulted from the resultant closing down of logging camps.

Reds Would Sell Wheat to Japan

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Russia is making a determined effort to move into the Japanese wheat market at the expense of such major suppliers as Canada and the United States, a six-man wheat delegation from Japan reported here Thursday at a press conference.

Japan's imports of Canadian wheat, however, are expected to continue at the present level for the top grades with a possibility of increased purchases in the lower grades, Selich Yaji, chief of the accounting division of the Japanese food agency, told the conference.

INTEREST INCREASES

He said that at the present time the possibility of major wheat sales to Japan by Russia was "not too encouraging." However, he said the Russians were showing increased interest in making such sales.

Kozo Matsumoto, president of the Japan Flour Millers' Association interjected that Russian wheat compared favorably with Manitoba No. 3. It was slightly better in quality and cheaper in price and consequently the Japanese millers would be willing to take such Russian wheat.

Nehru Backs Russ In Rift With China

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru Wednesday rapped Communist China for its stand on the inevitability of an East-West war.

His foreign policy speech to parliament was interpreted here as apparent support for Russia in its ideological rift with China.

The dispute arose over Chinese arguments that war must not be ruled out so long as there is imperialism in the world.

CO-EXISTENCE

Russia says it is possible to live in co-existence with the West, hoping for the spread of communism through peaceful means.

Nehru did not mention Russia or China directly but said: "You cannot really believe in peaceful co-existence if you think that war is inevitable and that there is an inevitable conflict between different types of societies and systems."

He said that no ideology could ever be a final approach because "new things come in the way to change our minds."

Turning to the Congo, Nehru said India regards the Congo as a single entity.

Mr. Yaji said Japan was hopeful of obtaining additional quantities of lower grade wheat from Canada. He was confident that Japan would continue to take the quantity of better-grade wheat from Canada that it has been buying and if there was an increase it would be in the lower grades.

The delegation has been touring western Canada at the invitation of the Canadian Wheat Board. It arrived in this country Aug. 10 at Vancouver and is scheduled to leave Sept. 7. Tuesday the group conferred with Hon. Gordon Churchill, minister of trade and commerce.

In the fiscal year 1959-60, ending in March this year, Japan imported from Canada 1,070,000 metric tons of wheat compared with 860,000 metric tons in 1958-59. In the fiscal year 1957-58 Japan bought 829,000 metric tons of wheat from this country.

FIRST PURCHASES

In 1957-58 Japan purchased no wheat from Russia. But in 1958-59 her purchases from that country totalled 2,000 metric tons and in 1959-60 they totalled 23,000 metric tons of semi-hard wheat.

The delegation was asked if the continued imposition of import quotas on Japanese sales to Canada would result in Japan curbing her purchases of Canadian wheat. Mr. Yaji replied that the members of the delegation were not in the trading side of the Japanese government and consequently they were not in a position to comment on the political aspects of the trading picture.

RANSOM DEMAND of $50,000 for the return of his son, made by Bohumil Cejnar of Toronto has been labelled "nonsense" by G. Mercl, commercial attache at the Czech Embassy in Ottawa. Cejnar, a wealthy nutria farmer, said he had been asked, through an intermediary of the Czechs, to pay the money so his 15-year-old son, Peter, above, could leave the Iron Curtain and join him here. The Czech official says it was always possible someone outside the embassy could try to obtain money in this way by subterfuge but that no Czech official could do so. (CP photo.)

Liquor Advertising

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Tribune said Wednesday it has learned that a bill allowing liquor advertising in Manitoba is almost certain to be introduced at the next legislature. Liquor advertising has been strongly urged by provincial weekly newspapers for several years but is strongly opposed by temperance groups.

U.S. Supreme Court Moves To Speed Up Integration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court has moved to step up the pace of public school integration in several areas at the start of the seventh school year since its desegregation ruling.

The court Thursday rejected pleas for delay at Houston, Tex., the largest segregated school system in the South; at New Orleans where state and federal officials have been at odds for weeks; and in the state of Delaware.

The action led Dr. Henry Petersen, president of the Houston school board, to say he hoped Governor Price Daniel of Texas would forestall integration of the first grades.

The first grade at New Orleans was ordered to be integrated by Sept. 8 by a federal judge. However, he granted a delay until Nov. 14 when the board contended it could not implement the ruling because Governor Jimmie Davis of Louisiana has seized control of the school system.

A three-judge court returned control of the New Orleans schools to the school board Saturday. But the governor asked the high tribunal to reconsider the order. He issued a prepared statement saying: "Nothing has happened which has changed the determination of the public officials of the state of Louisiana to continue our system of public education on a basis of separate but equal facilities for both races."

Season's First Hunting Death

(From Times News Services)
FERNIE—Sixteen-year-old Bill Zuffa of Fernie was shot in the back Thursday while hunting mountain goats, only hours after the goat season opened. He died before a doctor, taken by helicopter to the scene, could reach him.

'SATISFACTORY'

Woman Hurlled From Car

Mrs. Annie Jane Mayne, 76, of 1900 Neil, was in "satisfactory" condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital today following injuries sustained about 8:20 p.m. Thursday, when she was thrown from her son's car after a crash.

Thomas W. Mayne, 2235 Harlow, told police he was turning left onto Foul Bay Road from Fairfield when he collided with a car driven by John Grealy, 1375 Pandora.

"My mother was thrown out the right front door right after the crash," he said.

The Mayne car jumped the sidewalk and cut through a corner of Margaret Jenkins school ground before skidding back onto Fairfield.

7 NEW POLIO CASES

VANCOUVER—The toll of polio in British Columbia this year has surpassed the entire total of 1959, with four months still to go in 1960.

Seven new cases reported Wednesday brought the total for the province this year to 130, one more than in 1959. Two of Wednesday's cases were from the Peace River, with one each from Vancouver, Kitimat, Terrace, Dawson Creek and Chetwynd.

The Cariboo area has been hardest hit, with some 60 cases so far this year. Ten persons have died of polio across B.C.

EXTRADITION HEARING

NEW WESTMINSTER — A county court judge has reserved his decision on the extradition of a Toronto piano tuner charged with a 1958 Mississippi murder.

Judge G. W. B. Fraser reserved judgment Wednesday on the appeal against an extradition, ordered by David Richard Duke, 31.

Duke is wanted in Gulfport, Miss., on a charge of murdering John Loncharde by wiring an iron weight to the man's body and throwing him into a canal while he was unconscious, the court was told.

MINER'S DEATH PROBED

INVERMERE — An inquest will be held into the death of a miner crushed between an ore car and a mine wall at Paradise Mines near this eastern British Columbia community.

Name of the miner, an Alberta man, is being withheld. The accident happened Tuesday.

TWO DROWN IN CAR

LITTLE FORT — A man's body was recovered Thursday from a California-registered car which toppled into the North Thompson river near this community Wednesday night.

Police said they also were seeking the body of the man's wife. They withheld identity of the couple.

MAN DIES OF BURNS

PRINCE GEORGE — Joseph Robert Paul, 63, died of severe burns Thursday, after being found beside the front steps of his burning four-room cabin Wednesday by volunteer firemen.

JUDGE SCOLDS WCB

VANCOUVER — A British Columbia Supreme Court judge ordered the Workmen's Compensation Board Thursday to rehear the case of a gold miner in which it "distinctly determined not to do what it was required to do."

Charles Uraski appealed to the court against a ruling of the board which dated his pension from the time silicosis was diagnosed in his case instead of from the time he contracted the disease.

He applied for a pension in 1944, but the board only granted the pension when the disease was confirmed by a biopsy in 1956.

Stolen Cigarets 'Expensive'

Sidney chicken farm worker Kenneth Lloyd Herrington told the magistrate Thursday, he broke into a cigarette vending machine for six packages of smokes because "I was broke."

He pleaded guilty in Saanich police court to theft under $50 value Aug. 21 and was fined $25.

Police said the cigarettes, valued at $2.40, property of Hudson's Bay Co., were taken from a machine at the Tasty Spot, 5406 Patricia Bay Highway.

Herrington parked his car across from the cafe at 2:15 a.m., walked over to the door machine and forced it open.

"Why do you get your cigarettes that way?" Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers asked.

"I was broke," the accused said.

BREAK HABIT

"If tobacco is so important to you that you have to steal to satisfy the habit, then you must either break the habit or earn enough money to buy them."

"By the time you're through, you'll find they were pretty expensive cigarettes."

The stolen goods were recovered, court was told.

SAANICHTON GROUNDS FILLED WITH HUSTLE

Preparing for Oldest Fair's Biggest Year

By HUMPHRY DAVY

There's a hustling and busting at the Saanichon fair grounds today as work crews prepare for the opening Saturday of the 92nd annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society.

Fair officials and their wives, as busy as bees, are setting the stage for the farmer's big show of the year—the oldest exhibition west of the Great Lakes.

From all parts of Vancouver Island "the fruits of the earth" are pouring into the fair grounds, checked and allotted their places in the exhibition buildings.

They include cattle, sheep, goats, horses, rabbits, birds, flowers, vegetables, fruits, grains and home crafts—about 2,500 entries.

10 A.M. Opening

All will be on view for the public to see when the three-day exhibition opens Saturday at 10 a.m.

"The fair promises to be one of the best in years," said secretary A. C. Howe. "The entries are of the highest quality and more numerous than last year."

What is there for the public to see?

On Saturday more than 100 young people will compete for honors in a series of 4-H Club competitions.

Boys and girls will participate in judging cattle, goats and rabbits and will give public demonstrations of agricultural or club work.

They will also take part in inter-club competitions and showmanship classes.

Four-H club winners will receive money prizes, medals and 14 special trophies donated by banks, industries and private individuals.

Throughout the day beef cattle will be judged, along with poultry, rabbits, grain, grasses and seeds, vegetables, fruits, flowers, household arts and other items.

Western Horse Show

One of the big attractions of the day will be a western horse show which starts at 1 p.m. Some of the spectacular events include pole bending, the clover leaf barrel race and stake race.

On Sunday, the main event will be a junior horse show for young people up to the age of 18 years. It will start at 1 p.m.

The main award of the show is the "Wally" Williams Memorial perpetual challenge trophy for the boy or girl and one horse who score the most points in nine events.

This is the day when the dairy cattle hold the spotlight. Some of the finest herds of Holstein, Ayrshires and Jerseys will be on exhibition for judging.

Included in the cattle show this year is a Hereford herd from Qualicum. These have seldom been entered at the Saanichon Fair.

The highland events, which attract some of the best young dancers on Vancouver Island, will start at 11 a.m. and will continue throughout the day.

Starting at 10 a.m., there will be a breeding and halter class show featuring some of the finest horses on Vancouver Island.

This will be followed by the spectacular English riding events in the afternoon—one of the most popular attractions of the fair.

Some of the most skillful horsemen from the mainland and the Island will participate in these events.

Other attractions will be a display of Indian crafts to include hand carvings, heirlooms, Indian artifacts, knitted sweaters, patchwork quilt, beadwork and fancy sewing.

There will also be an amateur photographic contest. The crafts exhibits this year are expected to excel those of other years, both in quality and imagination.

Some of these will include some beautiful samples of hand weaving and leatherwork. The glazed and unglazed pottery is also first class.

The Vancouver Island Budgerigar Society will stage a cage bird show. Entries will not only include budgies and canaries but foreign birds.

COUNTRY FAIR MEANS FUN for children. These three boys are early birds. They were up at the crack of dawn today to watch and play with midway equipment being erected for Saanichon fair. (Times Photo.)

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1960 — PAGE 13

HE COULD BE WRONG

Prospects of a cool but bright Labor Day weekend as forecast Thursday were dimmed somewhat today by a disturbance that may bring precipitation.

Said a pessimistic weatherman today: "Rain by Saturday night, cloudy Sunday, and a chance for improvement Monday."

But he could be wrong. A storm now heading south from the Gulf of Alaska will give cloudy skies by Saturday afternoon, and rain in the evening, he said.

Indications are for improving conditions for the rest of the holiday weekend, he said, "but it's going to remain cold."

Predicted low for tonight is 48 degrees, and maximum Saturday will be 62 degrees. Combination of clear skies and low temperature in the last two nights has given fairly heavy ground fog in low-lying areas, and the first report of frost in the Greater Victoria area.

Labor Day Message Grim One

Victoria Labor Council president Robert Barrie today was in no holiday mood as he issued a Labor Day message.

The head of the 13,000-member VLC decried unemployment and urged union members to back the Canadian Labor Congress policy of taking part in the current provincial election campaign.

"This Labor Day of 1960 finds us in very uncertain and, for many citizens of our community, bordering on desperate times," he said.

Large numbers of families are undergoing hardship through unemployment.

NEW ENERGY

The union movement looks forward to producing new energy and strength in fulfilling labor's needs.

"The election taking place this month will provide an opportunity for us all to participate in this outlook," he said.

Economic growth and happiness are targets of the CLC policy and Mr. Barrie urged all workers to exercise their responsibilities as citizens "in support of that policy that will ensure all the opportunity to labor for bread, peace and freedom."

Seattle Symphony Coming to City For Two Concerts

For the first time in several years, the Seattle Symphony Orchestra, directed by its renowned conductor, Milton Katims, will pay a visit to Victoria during the coming winter.

The Seattle orchestra will appear here in two concerts on a Sunday afternoon and Monday evening at the Royal Theatre as part of Victoria Symphony Orchestra's regular subscription season.

Definite date is Feb. 26 and 27. The orchestra will play a program of compositions by Couperin-Milhaud, Stravinski, Griffes and Richard Strauss.

Navy Reservists Resume Parades

Weekly parades at HMCS Malahat, Victoria's reserve naval division, resume Tuesday night at 7.30. Dress, blues with medals, will be worn.

ONE OF DULLEST MONTHS

Much Wind, Little Sun, August Weather Summary

It was a dull, windy month. August was the windiest in 62 years. Average wind speed was 13 mph, up three mph over the average for August.

Rain fell on 10 days, five days more than the average number of days for the month. Rainfall, however, totalled only .85 inches.

It was the third "dullest" August here in 47 years. (Weather records in relation to sunshine, precipitation and wind over the years do not necessarily date back to the same period of time.) Total rainfall since Jan. 1 was 13.59 inches, up a tenth of an inch compared with the average.

For August there was 235

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Herman Rebnieris, 3038 Cedar Hill Road, was fined $50 in city police court today for careless driving.

Rebnieris pleaded not guilty to the charge which police said arose out of an apparent "drag" race with another vehicle Aug. 5 in the 700 block Yates Street.

Victoria's Cerebral Palsy Clinic has received a donation of $100 from the Vancouver Island Rock and Gem Show held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room last July.

This amount was raised in a silver collection at the door.

Provincial government offices will be closed Monday for the observance of the Labor Day holiday.

The Provincial Museum will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1.10 p.m. to 5 p.m.

SCHOOL ZONE SPEED LAWS RETURNING

Watch it! Police will be watching also, to see motorists keep under speed limits in school zones starting Sept. 6.

B.C. Automobile Association president Clarke Simpson said today many motorists forget the fact school zone speeding regulations will soon be in effect once again.

Speed limit in school zones is 20 mph.

The regular meeting of the Old Age Pensioners Association No. 1 will be held on Wednesday next in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street at 1.30 p.m.

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Victoria All-masters Duplicate Bridge Club were:

First, Elizabeth Warren and Leslie Stewart; second, Frank Artlett and Otto Leestman; third, Philip Hagel and Anthony Marsh; fourth, Gordon Rose and Walter Allen; fifth, Simon Marinker and Albert Jorgensen.

A 1937 model marine engine and set of garden swings, totalling $100 value, were stolen from a basement at 1280 Balmoral within the past four days, owner J. Herbert Smith, 1456 Gladstone, reported to city police Wednesday.

Nigel Young of London, Eng., will speak on "Is There Hope for the Future?" at a meeting of Victoria branch, British Israel World Federation, in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, next Monday at 8 p.m.

VOTES, NOTES, QUOTES

Tory Leader Right at Home

Political meetings tonight: Saanich all candidates meeting at Sanscha Hall, Sidney at 8 p.m., with CCFer Patrick Thomas, Scored John Tisdale, Conservative Victor Virgin, Liberal Frank Greive, Communist Ernest Knott.

Esquimalt Scored Herb Bruch at Lutton Community Hall, 8 p.m.

Liberals George Whittaker of Esquimalt and Alan Macfarlane of Oak Bay at 8 p.m. in Shawigan Lake Community Hall.

CCFer Geoffrey Mitchell of Esquimalt in Jordan River Community Hall.

Edited by NORMAN CRIBBENS

While most candidates are declaiming from public platforms across the province, Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson has switched his campaign to the living room.

He is speaking at coffee parties, doughnut parties, breakfast parties and tea parties. His theory: If 100 people go to a meeting 80 will be "the faithful," 10 will be there to heckle and only the remaining 10 will be open to persuasion.

Mr. Finlayson says he can visit 100 homes in three hours... has actually called at 6,000 and has talked to more than 12,000 voters.

The CCF has fired a melodic counter-salvo at the Liberals' Dixieland-style campaigning.

Banjo-strummin' campaigners mounted the platform at a CCF meeting in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Thursday night with a folk singing duo and gave out with "This Is Your Land," "We Won't Be Moved" and "We Are Fighting for Freedom."

Victoria Scored candidate Walde Skillings celebrated his 23rd wedding anniversary on an election platform at Sir James Douglas School Thursday night while Mrs. Skillings sat in the audience.

"I have another anniversary," Mr. Skillings said. "Just 48 years ago I started my career in this very school under Miss Ruth George... I have lived here all my life."

Of Premier Bennett's election rally in Nanaimo tonight, Esquimalt CCFer Geoffrey Mitchell said: "The people of Nanaimo should go. It could be their last chance to hear the most versatile politician in Canada... Tory, Coalitionist, Independent and now Social Creditor."

City Conservative candidate Ted Cressy is riled over an attempt to place Social Credit campaign literature and posters in a provincial government building.

"If this is ethical," he says, "I should apply to Ottawa for permission to display our Conservative literature in the post office and federal government buildings."

CCFer Geoffrey Mitchell says he wishes a Communist candidate was running in Esquimalt so as "to dispel any doubt in voters' minds that there is any connection between Communism and the CCF."

He warned 29 persons at Lutton Community Hall Thursday night to disregard any suggestion that Communists in Esquimalt will vote for the CCF.

"That would be the kiss of death," he said.

$380,000 Plan For New Block

Office Building Near Law Courts

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

A four-storey, $380,000 office building is planned for downtown Victoria, the Times learned today.

It will arise on the northeast corner of Courtney and Blanshard, directly opposite the Law Courts building under construction.

A development permit will be applied for in 30 to 60 days. Designed primarily for lawyers and accountants, the building will occupy 21,000 square feet. It will front on Courtney.

Provision has been made in preliminary drawings for a bank, restaurant and office accommodation on the main floor.

A blacktop parking lot will be located east of the building.

FUTURE EXPANSION

The main structure will be constructed to permit extending the top three floors over the parking lot if the demand for space requires it.

Tentative plans call for 12,000 square feet of office space on the top three floors. The bank will have 2,250 square feet, the restaurant 1,400 square feet and the ground floor office, 1,000 square feet if present plans are carried out.

"I disagree with him most emphatically," snapped the mayor. "We have overcome parochialism and are working in harmony with each other."

"There never has been a better feeling of co-operation among the municipalities as there is right now. If Mr. Nesbitt came to one of our intermunicipal committee meetings, where we solve area problems, he would change his mind."

'NOT SMALL'

"The reeves and councillors are very co-operative and they are not small or mean in any way."

Mr. Nesbitt had contended that Greater Victoria was "cursed" with parochialism which kept the four municipalities apart. He said Vancouver Island would still be a separate Crown colony if early settlers had been as parochial as their successors.

He contended the area should be unified as a single municipality.

"It's a wonder we don't have customs and immigration officers on the borders. The whole thing is a lot of nonsense."

"It makes us all a laughing stock and we'll continue so until we're all one big happy family, instead of four bickering in-laws."

Mr. Nesbitt's criticism that the city had not begun planning yet for its centenary in 1962 also drew a barbed reply from the mayor.

"About 1964, I suppose, we'll wake up and bemoan the fact that we lost a great opportunity in 1962," said Mr. Nesbitt.

"Aldermen come and go and I want to know who will be on council in 1962 before I appoint a planning committee," said the mayor. "That's a very good reason for holding off until next year."

He said one year would be sufficient time to complete arrangements for centennial celebrations.

"We're not going to be celebrating all year in 1962 because we're not in a position to afford that and I don't think it would be desirable anyway. There'll be a certain period of 1962 designated."

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have a "morning glory" problem. This weed comes from my neighbor's through the fence. Weed killer is too expensive. Would kerosene kill this weed?—S.K.

A. Kerosene will kill morning glories only superficially. The "weed" is extremely difficult to eradicate as it prefers growing from hardpan, or rock beneath the surface of the ground. You dig it out to the best of ability, and it comes back. Only way to control it is to keep cutting it back.

Q. When did comedian W. C. Fields die?—P.P.

A. Dec. 25, 1946.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Reduction In Veal Prices Good News for Housewives

By PENNY SAVER

Happiest news in the meat field is fact that veal roasts are now getting within range of a family household budget. Veal shoulders are best "buy" at 65 cents a pound. Leg of veal roasts run a close second at 79 cents a pound. To add extra taste interest to the family dinner use cream of mushroom sauce as a base for the gravy. It's delicious!

If your family intends to spend as much time as possible outdoors during this last holiday weekend before school, why not be smart and pre-cook a nourishing stew that can be heated up when the family come in tired and, perhaps, a little chilled after a busy day, boating, gardening or hiking?

Short ribs of beef, selling at 50 cents a pound, or breast of lamb, priced at 35 cents a pound, would be perfect for such a meal. Give an added zip to the stew by substituting tasty leeks instead of the conventional onion. You can get some for 19 cents a bunch.

Take plenty of fruit along on the family picnic you're planning. Fruit is really plentiful right now. There are Bartlett pears that sell at 29 cents a pound, peaches at 39 cents for two pounds, plums priced at 33 cents a pound and nectarines, costing 29 cents a pound.

Youngsters in the family will give you a big hug when they discover you've packed some of the canned drinks that come in individual sizes.

Cans, selling at two for 23 cents, contain 10 ounces of beverages. You can take your choice from root beer, orange, cola, ginger ale and lemon lime.

If you're planning a party, give your guests a treat by serving pickled herring rollmops that are bottled in Vancouver. These are all party-prepared, complete with convenient toothpicks, and are pickled in a mixture of salt, spices and onions. Twelve ounce jar sells for 48 cents.

Dining with friends on Labor Day? Please your hostess by taking along one of the gift boxes of English chocolate-coated mints I saw today. Box containing a quarter pound of mints sells at 29 cents.

DEAR ABBY

Why the Rush?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago, I heard that the wife of my former minister was very ill and fading fast. I've lost all contact with my friends in that city (I moved away) and want to know how I can find out if his wife is dead yet.

You see, I am his age and have been widowed for several years. I have always thought this minister was the most wonderful man I had ever known and I can't get him out of my mind.

Can you tell me (1) How I can find out if his wife is dead yet?

(2) How I can let him know I am interested in him without appearing too forward?

DEAR INTERESTED: For information about your former minister I suggest you inquire of a mutual friend. There is no way a lady can let a man know she is "interested in him" without appearing forward, particularly when she is so "interested" she can hardly wait to bury his wife.

DEAR ABBY: We are four sisters. All married. When it comes Mother's Day, Father's Day or Christmas, we all pitch in and buy something real nice from the four of us.

One of the sisters has not been putting in her share for the last two occasions. She says, "Put my name on the card and I'll pay you later." She is not poor and manages to have money for everything else. Should we skip her next time and put down our names and let our parents know how cheap she is?

SISTER IN CHARGE OF MONEY: DEAR SISTER: Dun the slow paying sister and be done with it. Why hurt your parents' feelings?

DEAR ABBY: Has anyone ever been secretly married by a justice of the peace and then had a church wedding without announcing they have been married already? That is my case. I would like to be married in a church by my own clergyman but I have been married secretly for seven months. Would I have to tell anyone this if I preferred to keep it a secret forever?

SECRET BRIDE: DEAR SECRET BRIDE: I imagine many people have managed to keep a secret of this kind. It's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding

TODAY'S RECIPE

Garden Pepper Relish

Two cups prepared vegetables (1 tomato, 1 onion, 1 doz. peppers), 1 1/2 cups cider vinegar, 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar, 1 bottle liquid fruit pectin, 10 drops green food coloring.

First, prepare the vegetables. Cut open 1 small tomato, and discard seeds. Put tomato and 1 very small onion through food chopper, using finest blade. Cut open about 1 dozen medium-sized peppers and discard seeds. (For best color, use half green and half red sweet peppers.) Put peppers through food chopper twice, using finest blade. Drain. Measure chopped tomato and onion, then add enough chopped peppers to make 2 cups prepared vegetables. Measure into a large saucepan.

Then make the relish. Add vinegar and sugar to vegetables in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating vegetables. Add green coloring and blend. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with 1/4 inch hot paraffin. Yield: About 10 medium glasses (3 lbs. relish).

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Should Build Up Bust, Slim Down Her Hips

Q. "I am 16 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall. My measurements are bust 32 inches, waist 25 and hips 37. I think that I am a little 'hippy' but my mother and friends disagree with me. I would appreciate your opinion."

A. You did not tell me your weight but there is too much difference between your bust and hips. I suggest that you take hip-slimming exercises for a loss of two inches anyway, and take exercises for increasing your bust measurement an inch or so.

Q. "I would like your advice about a weight problem. Will you please answer in your Question Box column? I am 46 years old, 5 feet tall and weigh 136 pounds. I think I am too fat but want your opinion."

A. If you have a small build, you should weigh about 107 pounds. If your frame is medium, you should weigh 119 pounds, and if you have a large build you are just a little overweight. I think the chances are that you do have quite a few pounds too many!

Q. "I am a male 19 years of age. I am 5 feet 11 inches tall and weigh 177 pounds. I have a 'medium' frame. Please tell me in your column if I am the right weight."

A. If your frame is medium you are about 15 pounds overweight. If you have a large frame you are just about right. Perhaps you are in between. However, a 10-pound loss seems indicated.

Q. "I am 5 feet 6 inches tall, 15 years old and my measurements are bust 36, waist 27 and hips 37 inches. I weigh 130 pounds. I have a fat face and feel I could stand to lose at least 15 pounds. My mother says that I should not try dieting and that I could never lose in my face. What is your opinion?"

A. If you have a medium frame, at 15 you should weigh around 125 pounds, so you are just about right. If you have a large frame, you are underweight. When you lose weight generally, you usually lose in the face. I imagine that your mother meant that if you should lose enough to become as thin in the face as you would like, you would be a walking skeleton. Be glad of the fat face! It will keep you looking younger than your years for a long time and some day you will be happy to have it.

India Now Recognizes Children As Potential Source of Strength

BANGKOK (UPI)—In India the child has only recently come into his own and is being recognized as an individual, a potential source of strength to the nation.

Earlier, the children of wealthy homes shared with those who were poor one common factor—both were neglected. The rich child by excessive pampering could not develop normally and often became a menace to society. The poor child, abandoned to no alternative, was not able to grow to his full capacity and become a useful citizen.

This picture was not only applicable to India but reflected equally the western pattern at the end of the last century. It is only in recent times that the awareness of a child's importance has developed in the world—by importance I do not mean the child's value to the family but to the nation.

India awoke to this fact along with many others when she became independent. We found ourselves faced with problems of great magnitude, all of which must be attacked simultaneously in order to cement the foundations of freedom. These problems ranged all the way from raising more food and providing better health and education, to the vast industrial enterprises needed to develop our resources and raise the living standards of our people.

We began to plan, and as we planned we realized that the success of our efforts largely depended on recognizing the human factor involved. Without the wholehearted participation of the men and women of India, change and progress were impossible.

We further recognized that the most valuable assets of the new India were her children so all plans and schemes were geared towards a future which held more opportunity for the adult and the promise of healthy, normal growth and development of the child. While it was relatively easy to proceed with plans for opening up avenues of opportunity, it was more difficult to stem the many threats to the existence of the child.

India is a land of villages, and 80 per cent of our people are born, grow up and die there. Yet it is the village that has suffered the greatest neglect. Inadequate medical facilities, an acute shortage of midwives, the lack of antibiotics and any of the miracle drugs which now play so large a part in saving life, contribute to the high infant mortality.

Madame Vigaya Lakshmi Pandit, former president of the United Nations General Assembly and now India's High Commissioner to England, wrote this article for United Press International. She is the sister of Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru.

Other causes were diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis, to mention only two, which also took a heavy toll and were a constant threat to the life of the children, debilitating and crippling even when they did not kill. However, in the short span of one decade and with the aid of one of her staunchest allies, the United Nations Children's Fund, many age-old problems are being overcome. India has given convincing evidence of the value and effectiveness of teamwork.

Sea Cadet Brother of Bride Is Best Man at Local Wedding

Sixteen-year-old Edward Stevens, brother of the bride, wore his sea cadet uniform, when he acted as best man at the wedding of Kathleen Anne Stevens and AB Edward Richard Fullaway, RCN, in St. John's Anglican Church recently. Groom and ushers were in naval uniform. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevens, 1320 Slater Street, and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fullaway of Windsor, Ont.

Canon T. W. Scott officiated at the evening ceremony. Gladioli in pastel shades decorated the church and pews were marked with gladioli buds and white ribbon. Frederick Chubb was organist and Miss Barbara Oldnall sang "The Wedding Prayer."

LACE GOWN

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin. The bodice had a Peter Pan collar and was trimmed with sequins and pearls. The chapel-length veil of illusion misted from a coronet of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white feathered carnations.

The groom's three sisters were bridesmaids. Miss Sharon Fullaway was groomed in pastel yellow organza with matching gloves. Twin sisters, Miss Dawn and Miss Gayle Fullaway, wore gowns of pastel pink organza and lace and pastel blue organza and lace respectively.

All wore matching floral headbands and tiny veils and carried cascade bouquets of carnations on tone. Six-year-old Doris Wilmott wore a flower girl's dress of pink lace over satin and carried a basket filled with pink and white flowers.

Turquoise lace with navy blue accessories was worn by the bride's mother. Corsage was of pale peach roses. White accessories complemented the rose flowered print gown in sand shade and beige coat worn by the mother of the groom. She had white roses on corsage.

Ushering guests to their seats were AB Jim Johnson, RCN, and AB Ken Van Chorus, RCN.

A. E. Goodall, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her happiness at a reception in Hollywood House. Pink rosebuds and a miniature bride and groom topped the three-tier wedding cake that centred the head table. Red roses were used to decorate the head table while dahlias and zinnias were on the guests' tables.

A powder blue suit with white accessories was worn by the new Mrs. Fullaway for a honeymoon trip up Island. She had white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

Newlyweds are now making their home at 1335 Balmoral Road.

Prince Rupert Wedding For Victorian

A wedding took place in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, Prince Rupert recently when Paulette Leona Loiselle became the bride of Gordon Brian Smith. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Loiselle of Fort Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith of Victoria. The Very Rev. George T. Pattison, Dean of Caledonia, officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by William Knight, bride wore a brown and white plaid fitted suit fashioned with a large white portrait collar. Her headband of two white roses held in place a tiny polka dot veil. Corsage was of yellow chrysanthemums.

Only attendant, Miss Heather Linvstrom, chose a box-style suit in pink tones. White accessories complemented her ensemble. Corsage was of white and turquoise carnations. Ronald Duncan was best man.

After a bridal party luncheon in the Bamboo Room of the Broadway Cafe, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Ketchikan, Alaska. They will make their new home in Prince Rupert where the groom is employed with the Atlin Fisheries Limited and his bride is a teacher. Both attended Victoria University.

Seagulls, Ocean Her Backyard

By PAT DUFOUR

Being a dutiful wife is reason given by Mrs. Maurice Wilkinson for fact that for the past 10 years she and her husband have had as their postal address, Motor Cruiser Meota, Victoria. Now a grandmother and with four grown children Mrs. Wilkinson recalls the first boat they ever owned. "My husband gave me a choice—either a new bedroom suite or a boat. The boat won! Not that I've really regretted it—it's a good way of life."

At present tied up at Fishermen's Wharf, the Wilkinson's home is a 47-foot motor cruiser whose 11 foot six inch beam provides generous living quarters amidstships. Fitted for trolling, the Wilkinsons do a spot of commercial fishing whenever Mr. Wilkinson can get away from his duties as wharfinger. He became wharfinger five years ago after 32 years with the Victoria police force.

Often some of the grandchildren come along for the trip. Sleeping space is no problem for, aside from the forecastle which is fitted up to sleep three, comfortably built-in bunks in the main living quarters provide beds for another four.

BATH BUILT IN

Having a bath is a cinch. Top of one bunk is taken away and a full-size bath is ready for the daily ablutions. There's an efficient little refrigerator, run by kerosene at a cost of 3 cents a day, a stove that's cooked many a Christmas turkey, a television and telephone. When at sea, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson are able to keep in touch with folks ashore by means of a 'ship to shore' telephone.

Washday, too, is pretty well routine aboard the Meota. Even at sea Mrs. Wilkinson is able to wash everything in the efficient little washing machine in the galley.

"I've often hung my clothes topside when it's been blowing a gale. Once I had my glasses blown right off!"

Asked if the name Meota had any special significance, Mrs. Wilkinson explained that this was the name that her father-in-law gave to his holding in the Prairies when the government bought it in order to run the railroad through there.

Constant companion for Mrs. Wilkinson is the ship's dog, Sheba, a seven-year-old Chihuahua. Sheba has developed a fondness for comfrey leaves and Mr. Wilkinson has seven plants growing outside Helping with the washing is fun for nine-year-old Cassy Swanson when she visits her grandmother, Mrs. Wilkinson, on the 47-foot motor cruiser, Meota.

his office on the wharf so that Sheba is assured of a steady supply. When the Meota noses out to sea, there's always a tin of dried leaves aboard. "Comfrey is an Old Country cure for rheumatism and it certainly seems to keep her healthy."

There used to be a ship's cat too. "His name was Pepper but he developed bad habits and we had to put him ashore. Whenever we were tied up alongside he'd love to go out rattling. We didn't mind that but he would persist in jumping through the portholes with the rats in his mouth!"

AUTHORESS

"When not keeping 'house' Mrs. Wilkinson busies herself with her reading and writing. Having her own typewriter aboard, she loves to write stories.

"I'm writing one about a lighthouse keeper at the present moment. He's gone through all sorts of experiences—at present I have him injured and trapped in a cave. If I don't get him out soon he'll starve to death!"

Although three of the Wilkinsons children prefer to make their homes in a conventional house, their youngest son Bob, after running a store in Esquimalt, decided he preferred the sea. He now has a fishing boat of his own.

"Still, the other children love to come with their families on some of our trips. On a recent cruise that lasted for three months, we went as far as Ocean Falls."

What are winters like aboard the Meota? "Wonderful," says Mrs. Wilkinson. "We have an oil heater and the ship is much warmer than any house. I guess the water acts as an insulator."

Although Mrs. Wilkinson is perfectly happy aboard her "seafaring property" home, she admitted that, given the choice, she might have settled for farm life. Glancing up at the pictures of her grandchildren that smile down from the bulkheads, she paused a moment, then added in her soft Scottish voice, "If we had had a farm, I'd have raised a much bigger family. I love wee ones."

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln-dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly-used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

Arrangements rapidly nearing completion, and interest shown by exhibitors, indicate that the annual two-day Cowichan Exhibition set to open Sept. 9 will be even bigger and better than the 1959 fair.

The exhibition last year roused considerable interest as the first held on the new fair grounds in Duncan.

Exhibits of flowers, fruits, vegetables, domestic science, arts, handicrafts, and hobbies will be housed in the curling rink, while livestock, 4-H displays and demonstrations, sheep dog trials, gymkhana, Indian salmon barbecue, and variety shows will be on the main grounds.

Main gate will be at Clements Street. Grounds will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

Program highlight will be the official opening Friday at 3 p.m. by William McGillivray, deputy minister of agriculture.

INVITED GUESTS

Invited guests will be Robert Strachan, provincial CCF leader; Mayor Jack Dobson, Duncan; Reeve Donald C. Morton, North Cowichan; commission chairman Mrs. Mildred Child, Lake Cowichan; W. F. Matthews, MP for Nanaimo, and Len Ryan, Lady-smith commission chairman.

Another feature will be the appearance of the band of HMCS Naden, which will start a program Friday at 7.30 p.m. A huge fireworks display is set for Saturday at 8 p.m. to mark the end of the two-day festival.

There will be a midway and games for children, run under sponsorship of Duncan Kinmen and Jaycees.

PRIZE LIST

Prize list will be similar to that of the fair last year. An addition will be the new barn for light horse entries, which will be ready for use for the first time.

Exhibitors are warned that entries will close Saturday with the exception of those for sheep classes.

Commercial interests in the Cowichan Valley are giving good support to the fair. Already 17 of the 21 commercial display areas in the curling rink have been allotted and seven of the 12 outdoor commercial areas.

Court House To Include Library

(From Duncan Bureau)

Provincial public works department has assured Vancouver Island Regional Library that library accommodation is being included in plans for the proposed new Duncan courthouse.

William R. Taggart, regional librarian, said this week that information regarding Duncan requirements have been forwarded to the department.

The announcement marks the latest development in a lengthy campaign to provide new library quarters for Duncan.

The library serves not only city residents, but also Cowichan district residents who find it more convenient to get books in Duncan than to patronize one of the bookmobile routes.

Mr. Taggart said the Unemployment Insurance Commission building in Duncan had been considered for library use, but that considerable renovation would be required to make it suitable.

"We need larger quarters badly," he said. "We are cramped for space and can't develop our reference, periodical, or children's services."

Speedy Run For Ferry Costs $50 Fine

A high speed run for a ferry at Nanaimo cost Walter Robert Howay, Victoria, the use of his driver's licence for 14 days and a fine of $50.

He appeared in Duncan police court Wednesday on a charge of speeding, and pleaded guilty before Magistrate A. C. Sutton.

Police said they had followed Howay for five miles at a speed of 80 miles per hour, and were only able to overtake him when he slowed down to 65.

TYRO WINS LUMBER ROADEO

CHEMAINUS — A lumber carrier driver for only two years, H. W. "Jim" Eltner, scored 795 out of 1,000 points to win the annual lumber carrier "roadeo" at the Macmillan-Bloedel & Powell River Ltd., sawmill here.

Runner-up was four-time winner Ray Millard. Eltner will now represent Chemainus division at the B.C. championships to be held at New Westminster Sept. 17.

City Truckers Resist Walk-Out

An attempt by 29 up-Island men to persuade the CPR's 90-member merchandise service staff here to walk off their jobs failed Thursday.

"Everyone in Victoria is working," said an official of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks here.

The up-Island men, replaced in their jobs after they walked off some two weeks ago in a jurisdictional dispute blamed on the Teamsters Union, jeered BRC workers at the CPR's truck terminal on Store Street but were careful to stay off company property.

"I haven't seen them this morning," said the Victoria union official, "so I guess they've gone back."

He said the union regarded the walkout as an unauthorized strike.

DOG CLASS TO OPEN AT SIDNEY

SIDNEY — Registration for a series of 12 classes to be sponsored by North Saanich Dog Obedience Training Club will be at SANSCHA Hall Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. It was announced today by A. E. Smart, chairman.

There will be classes for beginners, practice, and CDX dogs.

Lack of Program For Winter Work Criticized

There are no works plans laid for the coming winter, let alone for the overall unemployment problem, Victoria Liberal candidate Geoffrey Edgelow said Thursday night.

The Liberal party, he told a meeting at Langford, will deal with unemployment immediately they are elected.

Mr. Edgelow spoke in support of Esquimalt candidate George Whittaker.

"As far as I know there are no plans out even for the coming winter works program," he said.

A company spokesman said there was no interruption to service by the incident.

Other CPR truckers have walked off on the mainland in bids to switch from the BRC to the Teamsters' Union but the company's merchandise service department has continued operating through the dispute.

CCF Borrows At Lower Interest

CHEMAINUS, B.C. (CP) — Saskatchewan Industry Minister Russ Brown said Thursday night his province's CCF government has been able to borrow money at lower rates than any other province.

"We have gone into the money markets of the United States and have borrowed millions of dollars," he said.

Mr. Brown said far from discouraging investment as its critics claim, the Saskatchewan CCF government has attracted the highest per capita increase in capital investment of any province and has raised the proportion of industrial production in the economy.

INDUSTRY UP When the party came to power in 1944 the economy was 74 per cent agricultural and 21 per cent industrial but today industrial production accounted for 64 per cent despite an increase in farm production.

"No less a measure of achievement will be recorded in British Columbia under a CCF government," he said.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jerry Nance, aged 12, of Bryan, Texas, for the question:

Are the Oldest Mountains the Tallest?

A mountain range grows up and grows old so slowly that we would notice no difference, even in 100 human-lifetimes. Chances are, it grows from a long ditch of shallow, sea water, called a geosyncline. Where the proud Rockies now stand there was such a geosyncline 150 million years ago. At this time, the Sierra Nevada Mountains to the west were already in place. The southern Appalachians are 100 million years older and the Appalachians of New England date back some 300 million years.

All these mountains are very old according to our standards. But, as mountains go, they are in the prime of life. The Caledonia Mountains of Greenland, Scandinavia and Great Britain are almost 100 million years older than the oldest Appalachians. They have passed their prime and worn down so that in some places only their bases remain. Still older are the Killarney Mountains of Canada, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. The aging process here was helped along by the cruel glaciers of the Ice Ages. The oldest mountains in the world are now no more than a series of gentle hills. They are the Laurentian Mountains of eastern Canada. So, we see, the oldest mountains are not the tallest ones. The world's tallest mountains are the snow-capped Himalayas of Asia. These lofty peaks are among the world's youngest mountains and they are still growing. The Alps, the Pyrenees, the Apennines, the Himalayas and the Caucasus mountains have all grown from nothing in the past 60 million years. By mountain standards, they are mere babies. The lofty Andes are about the same age as the Rockies.

A mountain grows because of pushes and stresses in the earth's crust. Its entire life is one continuous struggle with the wind and the weather.

Destruction Starts at Birth

This warfare begins as soon as the mountain pokes up its nose. The rain beats at it, washing down loose dirt. Heat and frost crack its rocks and break them into small, moveable pieces.

For a long, long time, the mountain grows faster than the elements can wear it away. It may stop growing for a while, in which case some of its tall peaks are worn down a little. Our Rocky Mountains have had several such ups and downs in their long history.

Finally, the mountain reaches its full size. But the warfare with the elements continues. Century by century, the proud peaks are worn away. After several hundred million years, the lofty range is no more than a series of gentle hills. The Rockies may once have been much taller and the Appalachians certainly were. And we have no idea how tall the Killarney Mountains and the ancient Laurentians once were.

LIBRARY BOOK CARRIES $2,956 OVERDUE FEES

BENTON, Ill. (AP) — The Benton Public Library last week began a drive to get back into circulation overdue books. All fines were suspended during the "free days."

One borrower returned a novel checked out in 1879. It was 81 years overdue and it would have cost the borrower, long since forgotten, about $2,956 in library's 10-cents-a-day charges.

The book was returned by George Powers, a member of the Benton Library Board.

Civil Service Praised By Oak Bay Candidate

CHANT
... heckled

B.C.'s civil service has saved the Social Credit government from "going off the rails" yet has received "despicable" treatment in return, Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane charged Thursday night.

Calling for disclosure of the Carrothers commission report on civil service affairs, the Oak Bay candidate told an audience of 45 in Frank Hobbs School.

"If it hadn't been for the civil service of this province this government would have been completely off the rails and the province in a mess."

While he didn't name him, he said the cabinet minister who called the civil servants shiftless and lazy "should be ashamed of himself."

(Works Minister W. N. Chant criticized efficiency of the government service in the last session of the legislature.)

"The civil service asked one small thing—the right to bargain with the government," said Mr. Macfarlane.

The government appointed a commission under Prof. A. W. R. Carrothers of University of B.C.

"He gave his opinion; and we can imagine what his opinion was because it has never been disclosed—he recommended full bargaining rights," said Mr. Macfarlane.

"This government has treated the civil service of the province in a despicable manner."

A Liberal government would immediately ensure bargaining rights with one condition—if collective bargaining fails, a case must go to arbitration to avoid loss of essential services.

'Monuments for Own Adornment'

Mr. Macfarlane reviewed the Liberal platform and recalled that the Social Crediters are campaigning on their record.

"Social Credit in eight years has devoted itself to building monuments for its own adornment here, there and everywhere there are voters."

It has neglected chronic care, hospital expansion projects like Jubilee, social welfare, and mismanaged its greatly increasing revenue, said Mr. Macfarlane.

A redistribution of revenue would be the key to the Liberal school financing program—including removal of school taxes from property owners.

"Education is no longer restricted to municipal boundaries," he said; financing should therefore be borne by the province.

"The Liberal party wants to encourage home-owning... how can we, if people find themselves by increased taxes priced out of those homes?"

SCHOOL COSTS

Money for school financing will come from expanding revenue, saving on the debt which Premier Bennett claims is all gone, more efficient works projects more accurately estimated, elimination of capital projects paid for out of general revenue.

Mr. Macfarlane put the finger on unemployment as "perhaps the most urgent problem—there are so many."

A large number of workers came into B.C. from other provinces "because of the ballyhoo of Mr. Bennett on the Pacific Northern Railway."

"Eight of them got jobs—the rest are left sitting around wondering what to do, though they saw a good show one day," he said, referring to Premier Bennett cutting down the first tree.

Victims Named

VANCOUVER—Police and RCMP here Wednesday identified the victims of two separate traffic accidents.

A pedestrian struck and killed outright by a car Tuesday night at a downtown intersection was identified as John J. Kennish, 69, of Vancouver.

RCMP said Colin Andrew Cavil, 53, of Vancouver, was drowned Tuesday when his car plunged off the Lougheed Highway into 10 feet of water in a roadside slough a mile east of the Pitt River Bridge.

'Free to Do as You're Told'

The concept of Socialism is as old as Socrates, who lived 400 years before Christ, Public Works Minister W. N. Chant said Thursday night.

"It's aim is to give to the state everything that you do—from top to bottom—and then leave you free to do what you are told."

"According to this concept, the state doesn't exist for the individual; the individual exists for the state."

Most of the 75 people attending a Social election rally in

Sir James Douglas School applauded when Mr. Chant said: "We don't think the people of British Columbia want that kind of compulsion—we believe they want the free enterprise system which we uphold."

But some angry protests broke out in the hall when he added:

"The next step over the edge from Socialism is Communism."

"That's a lie and you know it," shouted a man in the audience.

"There are many examples to the contrary," Mr. Chant replied.

There were more protests when Mr. Chant said the people of Britain had experienced "the stifling influence" of Socialism after the Second World War.

"Who are you kidding?" he was asked.

Mr. Chant's fellow candidates J. Donald Smith and Waldo Skillings followed this line of thought.

Later a questioner asked: "Why does he (Mr. Chant) infer that the CCF is Communist?"

"I never inferred that," Mr. Chant replied, "but the economic concepts of both parties are the same. The difference is that Socialism asks you to accept its idea—the Communists force it upon you."

"What about your government ferries?" asked a man.

"Isn't that a Socialist idea?"

Mr. Chant's fellow candidate, J. Donald Smith, said the B.C. government ferries were the result of a situation where Vancouver Island was virtually isolated by strikes and the withdrawal of Canadian Pacific ferries.

PEOPLE'S NEED

Premier Bennett had declared that "no group of management or labor bosses" would be allowed to supersede the needs of the people. So the government's ferries were built.

"And a very good thing, too," cried a woman in the audience amid loud applause.

Mr. Smith said the government welcomed both private and public ownership "but not a monopoly of either."

Victoria candidate Waldo Skillings said the Social Credit government had built on the "remains of the old Coalition government which 'fell down' on hospital insurance."

"If you couldn't pay the premium you were fined, and if you couldn't pay the fine you were thrown into jail," he said.

"They hadn't enough jails for all the people who defaulted."

Mr. Skillings said, despite what CCF campaigners said about the "joys" of living in Saskatchewan, the government there had just increased its hospital premiums to $48 a year.

$5,000 Theft

VANCOUVER—Burglars chopped a large hole in a plaster wall at a men's wear shop here Wednesday and made off with 100 suits, 150 pairs of slacks, and shirts, socks and other clothing. Estimated value of the loot is $5,000.

GREGORY ON SOCREDS

Record Examined, Record Criticized

The advice of Premier Bennett was followed in Oak Bay Thursday night when George Gregory looked at "the record" and sniped at the personalities who helped make it.

The Victoria Liberal, speaking in support of Oak Bay's Alan Macfarlane, found:

The CCF has a "first class man" in Frank Mitchell running in Oak Bay but the party has shown inconsistency in its sudden change of heart on the $50 homeowner grant. (It first was announced in the House as opposing it; then later supporting it). It is also court-ing trouble by "a contract of marriage with labor."

The Conservative candidate, James A. A. George, "has consumed more cups of tea and shaken more hands than all the candidates in B.C. put together." But he "lacks a sense of humor" and his party hasn't any record in the legislature to follow.

The Social Credit candidate,

Reeve George Murdoch, was not long ago "one of the loudest voices raised against the government" yet now betrays his municipal interests.

Mr. Gregory said the Social Crediters had promised in 1952 to clean up government, to cut taxes, to give the public full information.

They hadn't found any corruption in past regimes, "they have reduced" the sales tax from 3 per cent up to 5" and they have not given information to the legislature about government affairs, he said. They have also overspent many capital projects, he said, citing an original $3,000,000 estimate by Premier Bennett for the new ferries. The total project cost $13,000,000.

The Liberals in the House have backed the $50 grant, but sought its extension to all, sought civil service bargaining rights, proposed public defenders, sought revised labor laws and attacked municipal finance policy.

EQUAL TIME ON AIR DEMANDED BY GROUCHO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Groucho Marx has taken a puff on his famous cigar, stuck his tongue in his cheek and demanded "equal time" with Jack Paar in television appearances by Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Groucho said the presidential candidates' "exclusive" appearances on late-night Paar show discriminated against his evening comedy program.

Marx—or more likely his press agent—sent the presumably facetious protest Thursday to the two candidates.

Tory Pledges Municipal Aid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Since Social Credit came to power, B.C. had sunk from first to third place among the western provinces in proportion of revenue assigned to municipalities, including education grants, Progressive Conservative candidate Patrick Reid said Thursday.

He told a meeting in his Vancouver Centre riding, but a bureau of statistics figures show B.C. assigned 22.55 per cent of her revenue to municipalities in 1951 and 21.7 per cent in 1959.

He said municipalities would be relieved of education costs by a Progressive Conservative government. He said the party also would appoint an auditor-general to examine government finances and report regularly to the legislature.

Treatment, Not Jail Asked in Drug Cases

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Specialized treatment for criminal drug addicts under the control of a treatment organization rather than in a penal institution was urged Thursday by the executive council of the Anglican General Synod.

Working under 94-degree heat in McMaster University the council gave quick and unanimous approval to the report of a special committee, headed by Rt. Rev. E. S. Reed, bishop of Ottawa, that had studied the subject for five years.

The august body of churchmen looked anything but august as they worked to wind up the annual meeting that started last Monday. Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Primate of All Canada, maintained clerical dignity clad in his purple cassock and wearing his pectoral cross, but on the floor of the auditorium many of his brother bishops appeared in shirt sleeves while clergy and laymen sweated it out in various stages of undress.

NO NETWORK INVASION

CBC Opens Fight With Private TV

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC showed signs Thursday of preparing for a tough competitive battle with Canada's new independent TV stations.

J. Alphonse Guimet, CBC president, told the Board of Broadcast, Governors that the corporation doesn't intend to allow any commercial invasions of the TV ground the CBC already owns or effectively occupies.

And that ground is substantial. In addition to operating six of its own TV stations across Canada, the CBC through its network affiliation agreements now supplies programs for the prime viewing hours which it controls on every private TV station in the country.

Mr. Guimet made it clear that the independent stations or a network company serving them, won't be allowed into this "option" or CBC-reserved time on the private stations, now totaling 37½ hours a week.

Nor would the CBC ever agree to have its present affiliates commit themselves to the second network.

TO SET THE RULES
His statement set the tone for the opening day of the BBC's public hearing on the rules proposed by the governnors for operation of any private network that emerges to serve the newly-licensed independent stations in eight major Canadian cities.

There was conflict among those in the industry as to when the private network will appear as a microwave link among stations.

The independent stations themselves, forming the Independent Television Organization, told the BBG that they would want to run the network alone—on a mutual or co-operative basis, without outside participation.

R. E. Misener of Montreal ITO president, indicated that such a network wouldn't take the form of microwave connections right away, since the costs of these are "abnormally high." Instead, the stations would rely to a large extent on video tape shipments, turning later to a microwave link which they could use in sharing the production costs of network programs for their own use.

In any event, Mr. Misener said, operation of a network for a network's sake would be unprofitable.

Spence Caldwell, Toronto film producer, disagreed. He and his financial backers are ready to put up $3,000,000 for a network and make it a paying proposition, he said.

RED-FACED SHERIFF FREED FROM OWN JAIL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Knox County Sheriff E. B. Bowles ended his term of office Thursday, embarrased.

Bowles escorted a visitor to see a prisoner on the fourth floor of the jail and was trapped in his own lockup when another officer used the only exit—an elevator. Bowles was rescued by his successor, Sheriff Herman Wayland.

Low Cost Proven Over and Over

The CCF advocates public ownership of all power utilities "not on doctrinaire grounds but because it has been proven time and again as the cheapest power," Pat Thomas said Thursday night.

The CCF candidate for Saanich constituency addressed about 50 persons in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church hall.

"Cheap power is vital for this province and we suggest it just does not make sense to have private power here," he said.

Mr. Thomas said power rates had been reduced in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and several areas of the United States when utilities had been brought under public ownership.

"The issue in this election is whether the power resources should be allowed to fall into the hands of a few private promoters or be developed by public authority to attract industry and lower taxes," he said.

SHARE PURCHASE

The CCF would take over B.C. Electric by systematic purchase of its common shares over a 20 to 30-year period "so that besides paying for this utility as we do now anyway we would also have some ownership."

Mr. Thomas said no new legislation would be needed to take over the B.C. company.

"We need simply apply to them the existing Power Act which the government has used several times, but only to take over small private power companies."

Public power would be cheaper than private power because interest rates on borrowings are lower, there is no corporation tax levy and "there is no profit factor which last year alone brought the B.C. $16,000,000."

FOR EDUCATION

Penny Off Means Penny On

A penny off school taxes means a penny on some other tax—perhaps gasoline—Saanich Social Credit candidate John Tisdale said Thursday night.

Mr. Tisdale told a meeting in Gordon Head Hall "Government grants have not kept pace with education costs, they have outstripped them."

"We failed, if I might call it that, to get across to the people the benefits they are getting from the education system."

He said other parties who promise to remove the school tax from ratepayers would only substitute an increase in the gas tax.

Oak Bay Social Credit candidate George Murdoch, who also appeared, defended the government's control over resources development. The Peace River promoters are tied up "like a cramped leg—it's no give-away."

TORY WANTS MICA DAM FIRST

'Battle of Kilowatts' Deployed by Murison

British Columbia should concentrate on its electrical power needs in the sixties before it concerns itself with hydro requirements in 1975.

So says Conservative candidate in Victoria, C. A. P. Murison.

He told an all-Conservative meeting at Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall Thursday:

"All the evidence shows the need for an additional 1,000,000 horsepower for consumption by 1968. To do that 'we must begin work on the project by mid-1961.'"

There is only one answer—"not the Peace, not the High Arrow but the Columbia River-Mica Dam with its downstream benefits."

He proposed a four-point power program:

1. Every effort should be made to complete negotiations on the Columbia-Mica development by mid-1961.

2. As insurance against delay on the Columbia, surveys should be completed on the Clearwater by the same time.

3. Decision on the Peace River project must be deferred—"It is the river of the 70s which was brought into the picture too soon, possibly to meet the importunities of Wenner-Gren."

4. The Energy Board powers and facilities should be increased and its terms of reference broadened so it can "become so strong its representations will be heard."

He urged continuation of free enterprise government "because we should all be able to earn according to our ability. The good workers should earn more than the bum—and there are plenty of bums."

He said the Socialists haven't paid for services they should have paid for "services demanded of municipalities."

Victoria has suffered a 40 per cent decrease in unconditional grants in the last six years, he said. This has added three mills to the taxpayers' burden.

Victor Virgin, candidate for Saanich, lashed out at Social Credit's agricultural policy. Never has B.C. had a minister (Newton Steacy) so inept, he charged.

"He quotes gross figures only to show an increase in farm production income. The facts are that last year the take-home income of farmers was $5,000,000 less than in 1951-52."

He blamed high residential taxes on the Social Credit government. The Socialists haven't paid for services they should have paid for "services demanded of municipalities."

WORKERS HERE BETTER OFF SOCRED SAYS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some B.C. workers do not realize fully the benefits available to them under the Social Credit government, Labor Minister Wicks told an election meeting Thursday night.

He said the government has set up a complete grievance procedure allowing appeal to an independent body headed by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, a man of unquestioned integrity. He also mentioned reduction in work hours and increased vacations.

"Don't be misled by the CCF—our setup is an improvement on that in Saskatchewan," he said.

Lumumba Assassination Plot Reported

New Turmoil in Congo, UN Troops Have to Fire

270 Killed In Bakwanga

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A flareup of fighting between Congolese soldiers and secessionist partisans in Kasai Province has claimed at least 270 lives in the town of Bakwanga, the United Nations reported today.

UN officials reported scores of corpses strewn on the streets of Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist so-called mineral state in Kasai. Many were mutilated by blows from knives and machetes.

The UN spokesman said one UN plane transported two wounded Congolese soldiers from the scene. The UN task force commander, Gen. Carl Von Horn of Sweden, ordered all such transport stopped.

The UN spokesman said Congolese troops and their opponents, supporters of Kasai leader Albert Kalonji, "have access to supplies of arms and ammunition."

A garrison of 125 UN Tunisian soldiers barricaded the local club where 110 Belgian residents hovered in panic. According to UN reports, almost constant firing went on in Bakwanga.

"There was shooting for hours on end," a United Nations official said. "Both sides were heavily armed. They even had mortars."

CIVILIAN SHOT

A UN spokesman announced that in another outbreak United Nations Moroccan troops opened fire on a group of attacking armed civilians south of Thysville Thursday and killed one person.

It was the first time UN troops have opened fire and the first casualty attributed to UN soldiers serving in the Congo.

The attack occurred at Moeberck, south of the garrison town of Thysville, where Congolese troops mutilated shortly after independence was declared here June 30.

The spokesman said the Moroccans deployed in that area were trying to disarm the civilians. They fired in the air first but finally were forced to shoot at the attackers.

On the political front, the Congolese government charged that the opposition Puna party had attempted to assassinate President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Puna leader Jean Bolikango and a group of followers were arrested.

At the Leopoldville headquarters of Bolikango's Party of National Unity, officials said that Lumumba himself went to the airport with grenades to take the 60-year-old political leader into custody.

LEADER OF PARTY

The 60-year-old Bolikango, who is leader of the Bangala "River People" tribe, was brought by plane to Leopoldville and held in camp Leopold II, military headquarters for the Congolese Army.

The government spokesman did not say how many members of his party were arrested with him.

Lumumba charged two weeks ago that Bolikango was trying to start secessionist movement in Equator Province.

The spokesman charged that "a group of Bolikango's party has threatened to assassinate President Kasavubu and Premier Lumumba and several of them have also been arrested."

He gave no details of the plot. Puna party officials in Leopoldville charged that Lumumba is trying to squash all opposition.

DON'T MEDDLE IN VOTE KENNEDY WARNS MR. K

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev should realize when he visits this country later this month that the American people do not want him to meddle in their presidential election.

"He will, I hope, confine himself to those matters which come under his province," the Democratic presidential candidate said.

Kennedy commented on Khrushchev's planned visit to the United Nations General Assembly.

U.S. COMEBACK

Oldest Olympic Mark Falls

(See page 8)

ROME (UPI) — Mike Troy of Indianapolis, Ind., won the gold medal in the men's 200-metre Olympic butterfly swim event tonight. It was the fifth gold medal of the day for the U.S.

ROME (CP) — Ralph Boston of the United States won the Olympic men's broad jump today and broke the oldest Olympic mark in the books, Jesse Owens' 1936 record of 26 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Boston won with a leap of 26 feet, 7 1/2 inches. Another American, Bo Robertson, was second with 26-7 1/2, and Russia's Igor Terovanesian, third, with 26-4 1/2.

The United States scored earlier when defending champion Glen Davis won the 400-metre hurdles in another

ROME (CP) — Russia won two gold medals in the Olympic track and field today when Tamara Press captured the women's shot put and Vladimir Golubnichy took the 20-kilometre walk.

Olympic record-breaking show, and the United States grabbed the silver and bronze medals. Cliff Cushman was second and Dick Howard was third behind Davis.

Wilma Rudolph, a 20-year-old Tennessee girl, won the women's Olympic 100-metre dash in an amazing 11 seconds flat but the mark will not stand as a world record because of a favoring wind.

The flying winner, who had rheumatic fever as a baby and didn't walk until she was seven, ran away from her field in a sensational display.

Dorothy Hyman of Britain was second and Giuseppina Leone of Italy was third. Both were timed in 11.3, equalling the existing world record.

SNELL IN UPSET

Peter Snell of New Zealand gave his country its first gold medal of the 1960 games by winning the 800-metre run in Olympic record-breaking time of one minute 46.3 seconds.

Snell edged the world record holder, Roger Moens of Belgium. Favorite George Kerr of the West Indies was third. The previous Olympic mark of 1:47.1 was set by Kerr in the preliminaries.

Soon after, Murray Halberg won the punishing 5,000-metre run and picked up New Zealand's second gold medal.

After winning Halberg flopped exhausted. The New Zealander had withstood a desperate challenge by Hans Grodzki of Germany, who tried to close a wide gap on the final lap.

The German finished second and Poland's Kazimierz Zimny was third.

In the 800 final Snell put on

SEPTIMUS WAS 'ADVISOR IN DOUBLE-SPEAK'

Fake Rocks Literary 'Who's Who'

LONDON (UPI) — That celebrated Who's Who of the British literary world, Septimus Cadwallader Tissington-Henriot-Brown, BA, turned out to be a nobody today.

Septimus Cadwallader, etc., was one of the more astounding entries in "The Author's and Writer's Who's Who," published Thursday by Britain's venerable biographer of the great and the noble, Burke's P. erage Ltd.

Not only did he pen such masterpieces as "Stalemate at Sandhurst," according to Burke's, but he also once served a stint as an "advisor in double-speak" to the ministry of education.

Thus, it was with some regret that a spokesman for the 134-year-old publishing house admitted today that the company had been scandalized by a prankster, probably an unimportant one at that. Not only was Septimus (born in Devon in 1913) a nobody. He was a nobody nobody, who didn't even exist.

The paragraph on T-H-B said he was educated in private schools and married Maria Grace Stingleholch.

His jobs had included the advisory post in double-speak to the minister of education.

from 1939 to 1945, and two years as literary adviser to Billingsgate Institute.

Billingsgate is a London fishmarket.

Among his publications, T-H-B listed "Dawn Patrol," "Corridor Trek," "On Saffari With Jock," and "Through Ethiopia With Pan 6 Pan," as well as "Stalemate at Sandhurst."

His only club was "YMCA, N.Y. and Lond."

His address, a non-existent Tobermory Road, London. Commented deputy editor Peter Townend: "I'm a little puzzled."

Burke's editor, Leslie Pine, personally passed on all questionnaires sent out for the volume, and he is vacationing in Scandinavia, Townend said.

Because many editors prefer to keep their addresses to themselves and their publishers, the forms are sent to publishers who pass them on to the writers, Townend said.

"As you can see, that way they can fall into anyone's hands," he sighed. A personal check on all data would be "absolutely monumental."

The hoaxster's work will remain in the book.

"It doesn't actually libel anyone," Townend said.

MIGHTY HEAVE NOT ENOUGH

Mrs. Earlene Brown of Los Angeles led qualifiers in the women's shotput at the Olympic Games in Rome today but even her toss of 52 feet, 11 1/4 inches was not enough to win when it came to the final, which was captured by Russia's Tamara Press with a mark of 56 feet, 9 3/4 inches. (AP Wirephoto.)

Japan Warns Against Restrictive Quotas

(See Page 10)

MONTREAL (CP) — A Japanese trade delegation hinted strongly Thursday wheat purchases will be cut if Canada restricts Japanese goods.

Seiichi Yaji, leader of a food mission from Tokyo, said at a press conference Canada sold $70,000,000 worth of milling wheat to Japan last year, supplying about 40 per cent of the whole Japanese wheat market.

This figure, he said, is likely to remain the same this year but could be "adversely affected" in the future if Canada imposed import quotas on Japanese goods.

Canadian quotas apply mainly to textiles, stainless steel flatware and hardwood plywood. Textile manufacturers in particular have complained that restrictions, recently strengthened, are still not restrictive enough.

Mr. Yaji said Japan's living standards are rising, meaning it is expected that relative consumption of wheat and rice would go down while that of meat and dairy products would rise, but this should not affect the wheat market because Japan's population was increasing, too.

Tugboat In Danger

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The 82-foot tugboat Emily of Juneau, with five men aboard, radioed today she was in danger in a howling gale in the Gulf of Alaska, 170 miles northwest of here.

The Emily, with a barge load of lumber in tow, told Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters she was battling 30-foot waves. "Southerly winds up to 32 miles an hour were churning the gulf into a mass of whitecaps."

His only club was "YMCA, N.Y. and Lond."

His address, a non-existent Tobermory Road, London. Commented deputy editor Peter Townend: "I'm a little puzzled."

Burke's editor, Leslie Pine, personally passed on all questionnaires sent out for the volume, and he is vacationing in Scandinavia, Townend said.

Because many editors prefer to keep their addresses to themselves and their publishers, the forms are sent to publishers who pass them on to the writers, Townend said.

"As you can see, that way they can fall into anyone's hands," he sighed. A personal check on all data would be "absolutely monumental."

The hoaxster's work will remain in the book.

"It doesn't actually libel anyone," Townend said.

Isolation to Mainland at End

A representative group of Victoria businessmen have been giving their views, opinions and recommendations to the committee at the invitation of the Minister of Transport, Mr. J. G. Bennett, on the proposed new Victoria Island Link, which would provide a direct transportation link between the island and the mainland to the future economic growth of this area.

During the past 10 years, transportation in the Victoria and Vancouver Island area has been undergoing a profound change.

The trend to fast ferries—geared to serving highway traffic—is indicated by the many ferry services and schedules to and from the Island. With the inauguration in June of the new Swartz Bay-Taswassen ferry service, surface transportation facilities between this island and the mainland have been rounded out.

Transportation is a service that is seldom taken for granted. Rightly so—our whole economic development in the west has always depended upon the provision of efficient mass passenger and freight transport.

This latter service offers both convenient schedule frequency and high-speed direct routing and has stimulated automobile, passenger and highway-freight traffic to and from our Island city.

A study of the various public transportation services, both surface and air, offered in this area reveals the somewhat astounding total of 58 arrivals and departures every day between the island and the mainland, of which 38 arrivals and departures daily operate directly out of Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula. Forty-three arrivals and departures daily are available for passengers, an 38 arrivals and departures daily are available for those using "drive-it-yourself" system, viz: their own cars.

We have nearly achieved the ultimate goal where, if you have missed a ferry, plane, or a motorcoach, you have only to wait a few minutes.

Canadian dollar stocks were firm but U.S. stocks were mainly easier.

Oil shares and golds failed to establish any definite trend but copper rose higher on a small demand.

AT VANCOUVER trading was brisk with prices showing stronger during the morning.

Peace River Pile moved 7,000 at $1.36. United Oils traded 2,700 at $1.36. Canam Copper moved 10,000 at $1.36. B.C. Power sold 550 at $33.35. Cowichan Copper traded 2,000 at $22. Mid West Copper moved 4,500 at $2.

The benefits of this almost almost unvalued frequency of services to and from the Island are manifold. Bill Hawkins, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, will be able to confirm this fall that tourist traffic volumes have shown a very healthy increase in 1960.

To exemplify: during July our company alone carried a total of 26,321 passengers between Victoria and Vancouver on its two direct and connecting motorcoach services via Nanaimo and via Swartz Bay-Taswassen.

A substantial percentage of these passengers were tourists attracted to Victoria for a day or longer, enjoying the scenic approaches to the Island offered by both routes.

We are planning to develop a "Grand Circle Tour" for 1961. This would involve the development of package tours and excursions to Victoria from the mainland, featuring the scenic attractions of travelling from Vancouver via Taswassen to Victoria and returning via the island highway and Nanaimo.

It will be marketed through our Gray Line Association outlets throughout Canada and the United States, and should be extremely effective in developing increased tourist traffic.

Victoria's transportation future looks even brighter with projected plans already announced for direct helicopter service—downtown Victoria to downtown Vancouver; and the proposed operation of fast jet-prop Viscount aircraft on the airport to airport run.

The tests being made in the Bellingham area on a new form of marine transportation—the Hydrofoil—capable of carrying 60-passengers at a speed of 30 knots, show promise.

The isolation of the lower mainland (including Vancouver) is at an end.

Vancouver grew to its metropolitan stature through transportation. Now it's Victoria's turn.

Vancouver must be prepared to accept the siphoning off of some of its light industries and Victoria must be prepared to take full advantage of its excellent transportation services by encouraging business growth here.

'AUTOMATIC' COMMUTATIONS WRONG

Pearson Flays Tories On Death Sentences

OTTAWA (UPI) — Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson came out today with his strongest criticism of what he called the "almost automatic" commutation of death sentences by the cabinet.

He said the reversal of the judges' decision on the majority of capital cases by the cabinet was affecting Canada's judicial system.

He said that, if capital punishment was to be abolished, it should be done by parliament and not by the cabinet.

Pearson told reporters the issue of capital punishment has been brought to a head by the recent commutation of the death sentence imposed on Ronald McCorquodale, a 25-year-old Calgarian who beat a girl to death with a pop bottle.

He said that if McCorquodale was "incapacitated" as Solicitor General Leon Balcer stated earlier this week, he could not legally have been tried for murder in the first place.

Pearson said his remarks did not mean he would vote for the retention of capital punishment if the matter came before parliament.

What he found wrong, he said, was that the Conservatives appeared to commute death sentences if they could not find a reason for carrying them out, while the Liberals used to commute sentences only if they found a special reason for not hanging the guilty persons.

Records Continue To Fall

(See Page 8)

ROME — United States athletes staged a comeback in the Olympic Games, after their disastrous showing Thursday, by capturing six gold medals in today's competition.

Ralph Boston won the Olympic men's broad jump and broke the oldest Olympic mark in the books, Jesse Owens' 1936 record of 26 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Boston won with a leap of 26 feet, 7 1/2 inches. Another American, Bo Robertson, was second with 26 feet, 7 1/2 inches, and Russia's Igor Terovnesian, third, with 26 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Mike Troy of Indianapolis won the men's 200-metre butterfly swim and Bob Webster won the high diving.

U.S. women won the 400-metre medley relay in world-record time.

The United States scored earlier when defending champion Glenn Davis won the 400-metre hurdles in another

ROME (CP) — Russia won two gold medals in the Olympic track and field today when Tamara Press captured the women's shot put and Vladimir Golubnichy took the 20-kilometre walk. Russians added a third gold medal by winning the men's team foil.

Olympic record-breaking show, and the United States grabbed the silver and bronze medals.

Wilma Rudolph, a 20-year-old Tennessee girl, won the women's Olympic 100-metre dash in an amazing 11 seconds flat but the mark will not stand as a world record because of a favoring wind.

The flying winner, who had rheumatic fever as a baby and didn't walk until she was seven, ran away from her field in a sensational display. Dorothy Hyman of Britain was second and Giuseppina Leone of Italy was third. Both were timed in 11.3, equalling the existing world record.

SNELL IN UPSET

Peter Snell of New Zealand gave his country its first gold medal of the 1960 games by winning the 800-metre run in Olympic record-breaking time of one minute 46.3 seconds.

Snell edged the world record holder, Roger Moens of Belgium. Favorite George Kerr of the West Indies was third. The previous Olympic mark of 1:47.1 was set by Kerr in the preliminaries.

Soon after, Murray Halberg won the punishing 5,000-metre run and picked up New Zealand's second gold medal. After winning Halberg flopped exhausted. The New Zealander had withstood a desperate challenge by Hans Grodzki of Germany, who tried to close a wide gap on the final lap.

The German finished second and Poland's Kazimierz Zimny was third.

In the 800 final Snell put on

MIGHTY HEAVE NOT ENOUGH

Mrs. Earlene Brown of Los Angeles led qualifiers in the women's shotput at the Olympic Games in Rome today but even her toss of 52 feet, 11 1/4 inches was not enough to win when it came to the final, which was captured by Russia's Tamara Press with a mark of 56 feet, 9 1/4 inches. (AP Wirephoto.)

DON'T MEDDLE IN VOTE KENNEDY WARNS MR. K

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev should realize when he visits this country later this month that the American people do not want him to meddle in their presidential election.

"He will, I hope, confine himself to those matters which come under his province," the Democratic presidential candidate said.

Kennedy commented on Khrushchev's planned visit to the United Nations General Assembly.

Japan Warns Against Restrictive Quotas

(See Page 10)

MONTREAL (CP) — A Japanese trade delegation hinted strongly Thursday wheat purchases will be cut if Canada restricts Japanese goods.

Seichi Yaji, leader of a food mission from Tokyo, said at a press conference Canada sold $70,000,000 worth of milling wheat to Japan last year, supplying about 40 per cent of the whole Japanese wheat market.

This figure, he said, is likely to remain the same this year but could be "adversely affected" in the future if Canada imposed import quotas on Japanese goods.

Canadian quotas apply mainly to textiles, stainless steel flatware and hardware plywood. Textile manufacturers in particular have complained that restrictions, recently strengthened, are still not restrictive enough.

Mr. Yaji said Japan's living standards are rising, meaning it is expected that relative consumption of wheat and rice would go down while that of meat and dairy products would rise, but this should not affect the wheat market because Japan's population was increasing, too.

Ship Strike Ends

LE HAVRE, France (AP) — Striking engineers agreed to return to the French Line steamship Liberté and the ship is expected to sail for New York later in the day.

New Turmoil Strikes Area

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A flareup of fighting between Congolese soldiers and secessionist partisans in Kasai Province has claimed at least 270 lives in the town of Bakwanga, the United Nations reported today.

UN officials reported scores of corpses strewn on the streets of Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist so-called mineral state in Kasai. Many were mutilated by blows from knives and machetes.

The UN spokesman said one UN plane transported two wounded Congolese soldiers from the scene. The UN task force commander, Gen. Carl Von Horn of Sweden, ordered all such transport stopped.

The UN spokesman said Congolese troops and their opponents, supporters of Kasai leader Albert Kalonji, "have access to supplies of arms and ammunition."

A garrison of 125 UN Tunisian soldiers barricaded the local club where 110 Belgian residents hovered in panic. According to UN reports, almost constant firing went on in Bakwanga.

"There was shooting for hours on end," a United Nations official said. "Both sides were heavily armed. They even had mortars."

CIVILIAN SHOT

A UN spokesman announced that in another outbreak United Nations Moroccan troops opened fire on a group of attacking armed civilians south of Thysville Thursday and killed one person.

It was the first time UN troops have opened fire and the first casualty attributed to UN soldiers serving in the Congo.

The attack occurred at Moeberck, south of the garrison town of Thysville, where Congolese troops mutinied shortly after independence was declared here June 30.

The spokesman said the Moroccan troops deployed in that area were trying to disarm the civilians. They fired in the air first but finally were forced to shoot at the attackers.

Families Flee Fires In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Women and children fled weeping from their homes in two Gaspé Peninsula villages Thursday as a forest fire roared unchecked upon them and a third village was evacuated today.

Citizens of St. Charles Garrier, evacuated for a time earlier this week, were moving out again. Fears were expressed that the little town would be destroyed before the day is out and that the evacuation route would be blocked by flames within hours.

Priests, pilots and farmers worked together to clear the threatened villages of St. Gabriel de Rameau and Val d'Espoir as the fire, burning now for 16 days, leaped ahead under the spur of its self-created 50-mile winds.

The people of Grande Rivière, Que., 10 miles from St. Gabriel, pitched in and commandeered 15 trucks to evacuate the villagers before fast-moving flames could cut the network of countryside roads in this area 330 miles north-east of Quebec City.

Some women had to be dragged from the homes they had fled once before last week, but had returned to when the fire seemed to die down a few days ago.

Magistrate Donald Graham said the lawyer's real punishment probably will be disbarment.

Tugboat In Danger

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The 82-foot tugboat Emily of Juneau, with five men aboard, radioed today she was in danger in a howling gale in the Gulf of Alaska, 170 miles northwest of here.

The Emily, with a barge load of lumber in tow, told Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters she was battling 30-foot waves. Southerly winds up to 62 miles an hour were churning the gulf into a mass of whitecaps.

'Best Ever' Forecast For Fair at Cowichan

LOGGERS' WIVES SEE CAMP

LAKE COWICHAN — B.C. Forest Products logging operations at Cayuse Camp, at the western end of Cowichan Lake, were visited this week by wives and friends of company workers during a tour of operations sponsored by the company.

Visitors were taken on a conducted tour of the woods operations and visited various settings. A luncheon was served in the community hall at Cayuse.

(From Duncan Bureau)

Arrangements rapidly nearing completion, and interest shown by exhibitors, indicate that the annual two-day Cowichan Exhibition set to open Sept. 9 will be even bigger and better than the 1959 fair.

The exhibition last year roused considerable interest as the first held on the new fair grounds in Duncan.

Exhibits of flowers, fruits, vegetables, domestic science, arts, handicrafts, and hobbies will be housed in the curling rink, while livestock, 4-H displays and demonstrations, sheep dog trials, gymnastics, Indian salmon barbecue, and variety shows will be on the main grounds.

Main gate will be at Clements Street. Grounds will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

Program highlight will be the official opening Friday at 3 p.m. by William McGillivray, deputy minister of agriculture.

Invited guests will be Robert Strackan, provincial CCF leader; Mayor Jack Dobson, Duncan; Reeve Donald C. Morton, North Cowichan; commission chairman Mrs. Mildred Child, Lake Cowichan; W. F. Matthews, MP for Nanaimo, and Len Ryan, Lady-smith commission chairman.

Another feature will be the appearance of the band of HMCS Naden, which will start a program Friday at 7.30 p.m. A huge fireworks display is set for Saturday at 8 p.m. to mark the end of the two-day festival.

There will be a midway and games for children, run under sponsorship of Duncan-Kinsmen and Jaycees.

PRIZE LIST

Prize list will be similar to that of the fair last year. An addition will be the new barn for light horse entries, which will be ready for use for the first time.

Exhibitors are warned that entries will close Saturday with the exception of those for sheep classes.

Commercial interests in the Cowichan Valley are giving good support to the fair. Already 17 of the 21 commercial display areas in the curling rink have been allotted and seven of the 12 outdoor commercial areas.

$300 SCHOLARSHIP offered by Local 1-80, International Woodworkers of America for members or their families was awarded this week by Ed Linder, local secretary, to Karen Torkko, 18, of Nanaimo. Daughter of Ms. and Mrs. William F. Torkko, she will attend Victoria College. She also won a Nanaimo University Women's Club scholarship of $100, and had one-third of her college fees remitted. City Truckers Resist Walk-Out

An attempt by 29 up-Island men to persuade the CPR's 90-member merchandise service staff here to walk off their jobs failed Thursday.

"Everyone in Victoria is working," said an official of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks here.

The up-Island men, replaced in their jobs after they walked off some two weeks ago in a jurisdictional dispute blamed on the Teamsters Union, jeered BRC workers at the CPR's truck terminal on Store Street but were careful to stay off company property.

"I haven't seen them this morning," said the Victoria union official, "so I guess they've gone back."

Congolese government charged that the opposition Puna party had attempted to assassinate President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Puna leader Jean Bolikango and a group of followers were arrested.

At the Leopoldville headquarters of Bolikango's Party of National Unity, officials said that Lumumba himself went to the airport with gun-darmes to take the 60-year-old political leader into custody.

LEADER OF PARTY

The 60-year-old Bolikango, who is leader of the Bangala "River People" tribe, was brought by plane to Leopoldville and held in camp Leopold II, military headquarters for the Congolese Army.

The government spokesman did not say how many members of his party were arrested with him.

Lumumba charged two weeks ago that Bolikango was trying to start secessionist movement in Equator Province.

The spokesman charged that "a group of Bolikango's party has threatened to assassinate President Kasavubu and Premier Lumumba and several of them have also been arrested."

He gave no details of the plot.

Puna party officials in Leopoldville charged that Lumumba is trying to smash all opposition.

He said the union regarded the walkout as an unauthorized strike.

A company spokesman said there was no interruption to service by the incident.

Other CPR truckers have walked off on the mainland in bids to switch from the BRC to the Teamsters' Union but the company's merchandise service department has continued operating through the dispute.

Little Relief In Maritimes

HALIFAX (CP) — Forest fire fighters in the Atlantic provinces braced today for another grim day of destruction.

Scattered showers Thursday stalled a few of the 100 fires that have raged for days in the four provinces but little relief was provided.

Scanty reports from the remote Newfoundland communities of Garnish, Caplin Cove and Old Perlican said more than 1,000 people fled their homes Thursday as flames raced in from dry timberland.

Telegraph and telephone communications to the areas were cut by flames.

A morning report said people started to move back to Garnish after a change of wind steered the flames away from the community toward Marytown which was not in any immediate danger.

KENYA POLICE RUSH TO HALT TRIBAL BATTLE

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Police reinforcements were rushed to Sultan Hamud, 70 miles from Nairobi, today to stop a major tribal battle between Masai and Wakamba tribesmen in which seven Negroes already have been killed.

The Masai were armed with spears and knives and the Wakamba with bows and arrows in raids across a railroad line which divides their tribal lands.
